152 DEAD & COUNTING AS 7.7 QUAKE FLATTENS MYANMAR, THAILAND

AGENCIES @ Bangkok

A powerful earthquake rocked Myanmar and neighbouring Thailand on Friday, destroying scores of buildings, a bridge and a dam. At least 144 people were killed in Myanmar, where photos and video from two hard-hit cities showed extensive damage. At least eight died in the Thai capital, where a high-rise under construction collapsed.

The 7.7 magnitude quake, with an epicentre near Mandalay, Myanmar's second largest city, struck at midday and was followed by a strong 6.4 magnitude aftershock. The full extent of deaths, injury and destruction was not immediately clear — particularly in Myanmar, one of the world's poorest countries. It is embroiled in a civil war and information is tightly controlled.

The head of Myanmar's military government said in the televised speech on Friday evening that at least 144 people were killed and 730 others were injured.

Photos from Naypyidaw showed multiple buildings used to house civil servants destroyed, and rescue crew pulling victims from beneath the rubble. Myanmar has declared a state of emergency.

Near Bangkok's popular Chatuchak market, a 33-storey building under construction, with a crane on top, crumpled into a cloud of dust, with onlookers screaming and running in a video posted on social media.

The sound of sirens echoed throughout central Bangkok and vehicles filled the streets, leaving some of the city's already congested streets gridlocked. The elevated rapid transit system and subway shut down. While the area where the quake struck is prone to earthquakes, they are usually not so big and it is rare for them to be felt in the Thai capital, which sits on a river delta and is at moderate risk for quakes. Prime Minister Narendra Modi said, "India stands ready to offer all possible assistance." P14

EARTHQUAKES HAVE HIT MYANMAR SINCE 1950 TILL THE PRESENT DAY

WHY ARE SHALLOW QUAKES LETHAL?

The earthquake that hit Myanmar and Thailand on Friday was shallow, as per the US Geological Survey. Shallow earthquakes are more dangerous than deeper ones due to their greater energy release closer to the Earth's surface. Seismic waves from deeper quakes lose energy by the time they reach the surface.

No FIR for now against Justice Varma, says SC

● Says CJI can take call after inquiry ● Bar body upset

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

CALLING it "premature", the Supreme Court on Friday rejected a PIL seeking Delhi Police to register an FIR against Delhi High Court's Justice Yashwant Varma over the alleged discovery of burnt wads of cash from his official residence on March 14.

A bench of Justices Abhay S Oka and Ujjal Bhuyan said an in-house inquiry was in progress and there would be several options open to the Chief Justice of India after the probe's conclusion.

Yashwant Varma

The bench, therefore, refused to examine the plea of advocate Mathews J Nedumpara and three others.

"We have seen the prayers. After the in-house inquiry is over, several options are open. If the report indicates something is wrong, the chief justice (of India) can direct the register of the FIR or refer the matter to the Parliament after examining the report," the court said. Petitioners Mathews J Nedumpara, Hemali Suresh Kurne, Rajesh Vishnu Adrekar and Mansha Nimesh Mehta had submitted that their plea pertained to a larger public interest and sought a direction from the court for registration of an FIR.

A fire at Justice Varma's official residence on March 14 led to the alleged discovery of wads of burnt cash in an outhouse of the judge's residence. Justice Varma was not in New Delhi at the time of the fire, and has denied all charges.

Subsequently, CJI Sanjiv Khanna formed a three-member in-house panel, consisting of Justice Sheel Nagu, Chief Justice of the High Court of Punjab and Haryana, Justice G S Sandhawalia, Chief Justice of the High Court of Himachal Pradesh, and Anu Sivaraman, Judge of the High Court of Karnataka. The panel has been mandated with an inquiry into the allegations against Justice Varma, the second senior-most Judge of the HC of Delhi.

'ALLAHABAD HC TURNED INTO DUMPING GROUND'

Allahabad HC Bar Association president Anil Tiwari said they will boycott Justice Varma's swearing-in. "I don't know what compelled the govt to issue this transfer notification."

CASH ROW: 1991 SC ORDER BACK IN FOCUS

The SC rejecting a plea for FIR brought into focus its 1991 verdict virtually granting immunity to judges. A bench in the K Veeraswami case directed no criminal case should be registered against a judge unless the CJI is consulted

Supreme Court quashes FIR against Imran Pratapgarhi

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday quashed the FIR lodged by Gujarat police against Congress MP Imran Pratapgarhi over a poem in a video clip uploaded by him on social media. The 46-second video clip showed the Rajya Sabha MP being showered with flower petals as he walks, with the poem playing in the background. The FIR alleged it contained provocative lyrics that pitted communities against one another aside from hurting religious sentiments.

Imran Pratapgarhi

A bench of justices Abhay S Oka and Ujjal Bhuyan said the poem had nothing to do with religion, caste, community, or any particular group, adding that the police must first understand the meaning of written or spoken words before lodging FIR in such cases. The court said it is important that people have the freedom to express through different forms of art including poetry, drama, music, satire.

HC grants interim bail to comedian Kunal Kamra

R SIVAKUMAR @ Chennai

THE Madras High Court on Friday granted interim anticipatory bail till April 7 to comedian Kunal Kamra in a case registered against him by Khar police in Mumbai over his jokes on Maharashtra deputy CM Eknath Shinde.

Kunal Kamra

"The petitioner has satisfied this court as to why he is unable to approach the courts in Maharashtra immediately for protection," Justice Sunder Mohan said in his order.

In his petition, Kamra said he has been a resident of Tamil Nadu's Villupuram district since 2021 and that he fears physical harm if he travels to Maharashtra in response to the summons by Khar police.

While granting interim protection, Justice Sunder Mohan directed Kamra to execute a bail bond before the judicial magistrate. Justice Mohan also issued notice to Khar police and posted the matter to April 7.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

AN aged couple died by suicide as they were unable to bear the mental torture by cyber criminals at Bidi near Khanapur on Thursday night.

Diego Santana Nazareth, 82, slit his throat, while his wife Flaviana Nazareth, 79, drank poison.

According to Belagavi Superintendent of Police Bhimashankar Guled, the couple had transferred more than Rs 50 lakh to cyber criminals after getting threat calls from them in the past few days. They decided to take the extreme step when the cyber criminals started harassing them for more money.

The fraudsters informed the couple that their IDs had been misused by some people, who committed a cyber crime in New Delhi. Later, they gave a phone number to the couple stating that it was the police crime branch from where they could get more details. When the couple dialled the number, they were threatened and forced to transfer money to some bank accounts online. P7

UGADI SPIRIT DIMS AS PRICES OF FRUITS, FLOWERS, VEGGIES SOAR

Prices to rise further as cultivation has dropped in key horticulture belts

RISHITA KHANNA @Bengaluru

WITH Ugadi around the corner, the festive spirit is dampened by a sharp surge in fruit, flower, and vegetable prices across major markets in the city. The price of mangoes has surged by around Rs 50, while flower prices have doubled ahead of the festival.

Button roses and chrysanthemums are being sold at Rs 400-450 per kg, while jasmine and crossandra are priced between Rs 800 and Rs 1,000 per kg. Sellers across City Market, Malleswaram, Hebbal and Yeshwantpur, told TNIE that prices may rise further as cultivation has dropped by nearly 50% in key horticulture belts around Bengaluru.

While the festive season is pushing demand, vendors are also struggling with storage issues due to the summer heat, leading to price hikes. Karupasamy, a flower vendor in Hebbal, said keeping flowers and fruits fresh is a major challenge, which is why their prices surge during this time. "Moreover, owing to Ugadi and Ramzan, demand goes up by nearly 50-60% hence we increase the price of all festive staples across all major markets to meet the demand and ensure uniform profit for all sellers," Karupasmy added.

While the cost of staples like tomatoes and potatoes has remained stable, beans have become more expensive, rising by Rs 7-10 per kg in retail markets. Carrots, capsicums, spinach and other green leafy vegetables have also seen a price increase of at least Rs 10 per kg. The price of Mango and neem leaves, which are associated with Ugadi festival, has also increased by Rs 3-5 and are now being sold at Rs 15 (for three leaves) and Rs 12 (per bunch), respectively.

Online platforms reflect price hikes too

While some customers turned to wholesale markets to escape soaring retail prices, others expressed frustration over the rising costs. Some have also opted for online grocery shopping to avoid festive crowds and the summer heat, but the customers noted that even online, product prices had increased significantly.

On online platforms like Zepto, Swiggy Instamart and Blinkit, the price of mangoes has surged to Rs 370-400 per kg, with some apps pricing them per piece and charging as high as Rs 190 for a single Alphonso mango. Moreover, a 500-gram pack of bananas, containing about 4-5 pieces, which usually costs around Rs 30-40, is now priced at up to Rs 80.

Electricity, milk rate hikes pinch consumers hard

GAYATHRI M KURUP @Bengaluru

BENGALUREANS have expressed their concern over the hike in milk prices by Rs 4 per litre and a 36 paise per unit surcharge set to be levied on electricity bills from April 1.

Price hikes in the city are nothing new, from coffee to even Metro fares, each increase impacts daily life. "Since this government came in, prices of so many staples have gone up--not just electricity, but also Metro fares, commercial property, and landowning charges. While they offer benefits like free bus tickets for women, hikes in essentials still hit common people," shared Anjana Nair, a corporate employee.

Prithvi Prasad, a PG student living on his own expenses, finds the hikes especially frustrating: "I understand inflation, but milk is a daily necessity and hiking it by Rs 4 is going to burn a hole in our pockets. Besides, electricity costs are rising too. As a student with limited finances, I rely on fans, lights and WiFi for studying, and this will strain my budget," he said and added that people are taken for granted.

For larger families, the impact is even more significant. Alphonsa George, a working mother of five, explains: "This might seem like a small hike, but for households that buy multiple litres of milk daily, the situation will be very hard. The hike will have a huge impact on common people like us," she said.

On the other hand, corporate employee Mohit Agarwal takes a different stance: "The rise in electricity costs per unit will impact the larger population, as fixed budgets may force them to cut back on other expenses. At the same time, it could benefit electricity distributors, many of whom operate at heavy losses. The increased revenue might help them offset costs," he explains.

House panel ready to address guv's concerns over GBGB Bill: Rizwan

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

Rizwan Arshad, MLA, who heads the Select Legislative Committee, which reviewed the Greater Bengaluru Governance Bill, has said that the governor's action did not amount to rejection of the Bill, but a request for some specific clarifications.

Speaking to TNIE, Arshad downplayed the concerns, especially those surrounding the 74th Amendment, and said, "No exact point of the Act was raised." He dismissed claims of constitutional flaws in the Bill.

On apprehensions over the proposed Metropolitan Planning, a concept first introduced by the Congress government, in the Bill, Arshad clarified that the committee headed by him will take the matter seriously. "Metropolitan Planning was proposed when Congress was in power. We will consider all aspects of it moving forward," he said, suggesting that the committee remains open to refining the Bill.

The most contentious issue, however, appears to be splitting of the BBMP, which, according to critics, will go the Delhi civic body's way.

Arshad, however, is unperturbed. "Delhi civic body's trifurcation failed due to unequal revenue distribution," he said. "In contrast, we've carefully accounted for that, ensuring a balanced approach for Bengaluru's future. Bengaluru has to be divided for administrative efficiency and we have taken all objections into consideration," he added.

Reiterating that the governor seeking certain clarifications on the Bill was not a setback to the state government, he said, "We're fully prepared to provide all clarifications. There is no cause for alarm."

Residents parched despite Cauvery Stage-V rollout

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

DESPITE the commissioning of the Cauvery Stage-V project by the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB), hundreds of residents in Prakruthi Township, Horamavu, claim they have not received a single drop of water. With peak summer approaching, they are urging the BWSSB to take immediate action.

However, BWSSB Assistant Executive Engineer (East), Channa Basavaiah, denied any issue of water supply to houses with valid connections. He acknowledged complaints about muddy water in some areas but insisted that supply was not being withheld.

When Varkey Thomas, a resident, confronted the engineer, stating that over 150 houses in Prakruthi Township had yet to receive water from their taps despite Cauvery Stage-V being operational, Basavaiah shifted the responsibility. He suggested that residents might have contacted the Project Department instead of the Maintenance Department, claiming the issue could have been resolved otherwise.

Thomas, however, refuted this, saying, "I met a BWSSB engineer named Dinesh from the maintenance wing two months ago. We even approached an additional chief engineer in the past. Yet, nothing has been done. Now, they are trying to shift the blame onto us."

The Cauvery Stage-V project, commissioned on October 16 2024 is a Rs 5,500 crore initiative aimed at supplying 775 million litres per day to 110 villages merged into Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP). BWSSM Chairman Ram Prasat had previously stated that over 20,000 residents has taken connections after the project's launch. Officials were also directed to create awareness among house owners to apply for water and sanitary connections.

798 STUDENTS GRADUATE AT IIMB'S 50TH CONVOCATION

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE world's biggest problems are also its biggest opportunities, and technology is the key to solving them, said Dr S Somanath, Dr Vikram Sarabhai Professor at Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) and former Chairman of ISRO, while addressing the 50th Convocation of IIM-Bangalore (IIMB) on Friday. A total of 798 students graduated with eight of them winning gold medals at this year's convocation.

Dr Somanath highlighted that technological evolution is now exponential and global, driven by AI, robotics, virtual reality, blockchain, and quantum sensing. These advancements, he noted, are not just enhancing industries but are also reinventing business models.

"In the coming years, robots may replace devices, digital connectivity will surge, and scarcity in power, water, and healthcare will give way to abundance. While developing nations may benefit, developed countries could face challenges due to shifting skill demands, migration, and economic disparity," he said, urging the students to be creators of technology rather than mere adopters, stressing that India must drive innovation to remain competitive.

"As a country, we are still largely adopting technology rather than creating it. If we want to lead, we need more institutions fostering professionals who can drive technological advancements. It is your responsibility to bridge this gap," Somanath told the graduating students.

The institute awarded degrees to 798 students across various programmes in the presence of IIMB's Board of Governors, faculty, alumni, and staff. The graduating batch included - 18 Doctoral Programme (PhD) students, 80 from Post Graduate Programme in Enterprise Management (PGPEM), 82 from Executive Post Graduate Programme in Management (EPGP), 72 from Post Graduate Programme in Business Analytics (PGPBA), 529 from Post Graduate Programme in Management (PGP) and 13 from Post Graduate Programme in Public Policy and Management (PGPPM) (10 received degrees, three received diplomas).

PETER VIDAL

29th March: I mentioned unusual patterns concerning Mercury and Uranus yesterday. Today's key picture links Uranus to the Sun, reinforcing the message that it's time to break out of our comfortable ruts and experiment with new and untried ways of doing things. And if it doesn't work, we can always go back to the old, familiar methods later!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You have a reputation for getting your own way. In part, this is others' fault for allowing themselves to be overruled. However, today, may I advise you to be extra sensitive to partners' rather delicate feelings. The more pleasant you are to them, the nicer they'll be to you.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You could be at your most persuasive. This really is a sociable day and you should make great play of your ability to bring people together. Prospects for those in the property market are distinctly better than average but, as usual, your planning has to be perfect.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
The various relationships between Mars, Mercury, Venus and Jupiter are perfectly optimistic in their inclinations, and should suit you down to the ground. This is a time to get on with your favourite tasks, to exchange information, make short trips and generally chase your special ambitions.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Your particular brand of sensitivity is one we could all learn from. Powerful emotional alignments suit your mood and may encourage you to put yourself on the line as far as one special relationship is concerned. You'll need all the courage and confidence at your disposal.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Slowly but surely you ought to be reassuring partners of your loyalty and dedication. The lesson to learn at the moment is that partnerships must be worked at. This simple truth is quite compatible with the fun, pleasure and enjoyment that come from special associations.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Other people hold the key. It doesn't matter whether your speciality is a working partnership, a romantic liaison or just friendship in general. All that is important is that you open your heart. Once you do that, then other people may respond in the ways that you always hoped they would.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
What you can do now is take a much firmer line with children. You should also realise that there are many chores to be completed and tasks to be done, even if you are in the mood for a day off. Your best approach is to call in a long-forgotten favour.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
As the Moon moves to and fro between challenging regions of your chart and harmonious ones, the chances for romantic happiness improve. You should seize the opportunity to enjoy yourself, regardless of whether your interests are high-brow or low.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Once again, home and family affairs occupy your attention. It may be a day to indulge in your favourite practical tasks, or to enjoy the company of your favourite relations. Friendly communication with everyone is the top theme for the next twenty-four hours.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There is a great temptation to talk about subjects of which you know nothing. If you can get away with a bluff, do so by all means. On the other hand, if facts are important, you may care to get a second opinion. That's especially the case if you're risking your own cash.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The time has come to clear the decks, as I think you know. As long as you have major personal matters in hand, you may indulge a financial whim. If spending plans are your top priority, then it looks as if frivolities may be a better buy than necessities.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There are so many thought-provoking planetary patterns at the moment, but the dominant mood is emotional. My hope is that we will see the very best of your caring, compassionate sensitivity. My concern is that you may be a little too ready to build molehills into quite unnecessary mountains.

DEPUTY Chief Minister and KPCC president DK Shivakumar on Friday said the AICC is moving forward with the bid to reshape the party organisation by empowering its district presidents.

"The DCC presidents have been trained on the intricacies of organising the party, handling the media and social media, and maintaining the party's assets. The issues of enrolling the members, verifying the voters' list were part of the training, where strengthening the DCCs was discussed," Shivakumar told reporters in New Delhi on Friday. The three-day DCC presidents conference is under way in New Delhi.

"A decision to empower the district Congress presidents will be taken at the party's executive committee meeting to be held in Gujarat," he said.

"They (high command) have come out with a new formula of strengthening the party across the country. I am very happy about it, as it is a very good initiative taken by AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge and LoP in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi," he said.

"The party is bigger than the government, so the high command has given a special programme to the district presidents. During the meeting, they asked if their opinion was sought while selecting the Congress candidate for the Assembly elections. They have done a great job of empowering the district presidents," he informed. Guidelines, including conducting a membership campaign, verifying the voters' list, appointing BLOs, using social media effectively, and collecting donations for the party has been done.

The district in-charge ministers should visit the Congress office and meet workers, and take the DCC presidents along, when touring districts, he said.

Separately, on MLC Rajendra's complaint that supari was given to murder him, Shivakumar said he was unaware of it and Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara will have it probed.

Governor sends Mineral Rights Bill to President

It was passed in both Houses during the winter session in Belagavi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE state government, which was expecting to generate around Rs 4,700 crore by passing the Karnataka (Mineral Rights and Mineral Bearing Land) Tax Bill, 2024, might be disappointed. Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot, who had earlier sent the bill back to the government seeking clarifications, has now given his nod and sent it to the President of India.

The Bill had made provision to collect tax on exercise of mineral rights and on mineral-bearing land by the State government. The Governor, in his letter, noted that the provision in this bill will have an impact on earlier parliamentary laws/central acts such as Environmental Protection Act, Forest Conservation Act and Mines and Minerals Act.

In his file to the State government, the Governor pointed out that mineral bearing lands fall under notified forest and non-forest areas. As far as forest land for non-forest purposes in considered, the Forest Conservation Act was passed in Parliament in 1980. Thus, land covered under notified forest areas and its use is controlled and governed by parliamentary legislation.

The Governor also mentioned that the objective of the Bill appears to transgress other constitutional limitations and provisions. He added that in this case, the Bill which ultimately became the Act in question, was a consolidating Act relating to different subjects, and perhaps the Governor felt it was necessary to reserve it for the President's assent.

The Bill passed in the House stated it is in accordance with the Supreme Court's verdict dated August 14, 2024, that says states can collect mineral taxes on mineral bearing land and mineral rights with retrospective effect from April 1, 2005. Mining leaseholders are allowed to pay this tax in instalments. The Bill was passed in both Houses during the winter session in Belagavi. The bill says the State considers making provisions for levy and collection of tax on exercise of mineral rights and on mineral bearing lands by the State government. When the bill was sent for the Governor's approval, he had returned it, seeking clarificiations.

The Bill had fixed rates of tax on mineral bearing land like bauxite and laterite, chromite, iron ore, limeshell, magnesite and others, and the tax amount varied from Rs 20 per tonne to Rs 100 per tonne. The state had expected to raise Rs 4,708 crore annually.

DKS, Rajnath to share dais at Siddaganga event

TUMAKURU: Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar will be sharing the dais with Defence Minister Rajnath Singh at the 118th birth anniversary of Sri Shivakumara Swamiji at Siddaganga Mutt on April 1. Singh will inaugurate the function, with Shivakumar presiding over it. It may be recalled that Shivakumar sharing the stage with Union Home Minister Amit Shah during Mahashivaratri celebrations in Coimbatore, on the invitation of Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev, recently, had caused ripples in political circles. Now, with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah yet to completely recover from a knee injury, the DCM has got the opportunity. "In fact, Siddaramaiah was prepared to take the risk and attend the birth anniversary event of the seer, as it was planned for April 4. Also, President Droupadi Murmu was invited. However, Murmu's participation remained unconfirmed, leading the organisers to advance the event to April 1," sources said. ENS

JDS, BJP slam milk, power price hike, DCM clarifies

ENS @ Bengaluru

A day after prices of milk and electricity were hiked, the Opposition BJP and JDS slammed the government over the decision. The BJP is also planning to hold protests across the state.

Union minister and JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy said Karnataka is in the clutches of the "East India Congress Company". It is a government of price hikes and tax impositions, he added.

"A milk crisis has begun in the state. This is the third price hike. In August 2023, the price was increased by Rs 3, in June 2024 by Rs 2, and now in March 2025 by Rs 4. Similarly, electricity has also become costlier," Kumaraswamy stated.

He said the excuse is farmers, but the profit goes to KMF. "The government is running a corporate administration. You have increased the price of curds by Rs 4. What will you do with this money? Will it go to the farmers, or will KMF retain it? Clarify," he asked the government.

Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka said the economy depends on electricity and petrol, and when their prices rise, the cost of all goods increases. "The Guarantee Implementation Committee is a 'wasteful body', through which Rs 150 crore is being unnecessarily spent on Congress workers. If this committee had been scrapped, that money could have been saved. On the one hand, tax money is used for the party, while on the other, people are burdened," he added.

Meanwhile, DCM DK Shivakumar hit back at the Opposition, justifying the price hike. "Let Kumaraswamy criticise. Farmers also need to survive. If he has so much concern, let him get the cattle feed prices reduced. He can also reduce the GST rates and fuel prices," Shivakumar said.

Some Vijayapura BJP leaders back Yatnal's expulsion

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayapura

THE expulsion of Vijayapura MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal from the BJP for six years has caused a vertical division between pro- and anti-Yatnal camps in the district.

While Yatnal's supporters held a press conference on Thursday, demanding the revocation of his expulsion, his detractors welcomed the decision on Friday. BJP state functionaries Suresh Biradar and Gopal Ghatkamble stated that when party members cross limits, the leadership is left with no choice, but to take stern action.

It may be noted that following Yatnal's removal, protests erupted in some areas, while others celebrated the decision.

Biradar, who also hails from the Panchamasali community, took exception to Jaya Mrityunjaya Swami of Kudalasangama for demanding that the BJP top brass withdraw the order. He said the seer should not make such demands, as they are not related to the community, but to the internal policies of the BJP.

"The seer is trying to project it as a setback to the Panchamasali community. He should not project the decision as injustice to the community, as it sends a wrong message about the community in society," he said.

Clarifying that the protest is not representative of the entire community, he claimed that a significant number of those demonstrating against the decision were employees of Siddasiri Bank, owned by Yatnal.

Criticism against Yatnal intensified as leaders pointed out his frequent attacks on senior party figures, including former CM BS Yediyurappa and his son and BJP state chief BY Vijayendra.

Ghatkamble, a former corporator, stated that Yatnal's presence in the party was causing more harm than good. He highlighted that over the past two years, Yatnal had consistently targeted party leaders, despite being given multiple opportunities to amend his behaviour. The BJP, he said, had supported Yatnal in the past, helping him rise to the positions of MLA and Union minister, but his recent actions had left the party with no alternative but to expel him.

Ghatkamble also criticised Yatnal's performance in the recent elections, stating that despite being given charge of campaigning in 30 constituencies, his efforts did not yield any significant electoral gains for the party.

Taking a dig at Yatnal's supporters, Ghatkamble remarked that instead of demanding his re-induction into the party, Yatnal should declare that he does not need the BJP. The BJP district core committee has resolved to accept and respect the decision of the central committee to expel Yatnal.

Yatnal's expulsion detrimental to BJP: Ramesh Jarkiholi

BELAGAVI: A group of disgruntled BJP legislators, headed by MLA Ramesh Jarkiholi, appealed to the top leadership to reinduct expelled legislator Basangouda Patil Yatnal into the party, contending that his expulsion by the BJP Disciplinary Committee is bound to impact the party's prospects in North Karnataka. Following a meeting of the rebel BJP faction in Bengaluru on Friday, Jarkiholi said the leaders discussed the loss that BJP could suffer for showing Yatnal the door. "We (disgruntled MLAs) are confident that the party leadership will revoke the order of his expulsion. He has been one of the most influential leaders in the party who can make a difference. I am sure that our appeal to the party will be considered seriously," he said. Jarkiholi called the BJP's decision to expel Yatnal harsh, and said the party should not have done it in haste, given the latter's popularity and influence among a large section of the people. ENS

Supari deal: FIR filed against 5 for plotting to kill MLC Rajendra

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Tumakuru

KYATHASANDRA police filed an FIR against five persons, including history sheeter Somu, following a complaint by Co-operation Minister KN Rajanna's MLC-son Rajendra on Friday evening.

The other accused are Bharat, Amit, Gunda and Yatish, who have criminal antecedents, and will be secured soon for investigation, police said.

Sections 109, 329(4), 61(2), 190, 109 of the BNS have been slapped against the accused.

Rajendra, who alleged that 'unidentified' persons had given 'supari' to kill him, on Friday approached Tumakuru SP Ashok KV, seeking action. The SP forwarded the case to the jurisdictional Kyathasandra police as the minister's residence is situated there, to file a FIR.

"He mentioned the name of Soma, a history-sheeter of Jayapura area in Tumakuru, and a person called Bharat. The gravity of the FIR will determine the next course of action. The investigation officer will ask why Rajendra delayed lodging a police complaint though he got to know about supari being given to eliminate him in January itself. We came to know only after the MLC told us about the supari deal, as we had no prior intelligence report. Adequate security is already in place for the minister and MLC, and will be tightened," Ashok told the press.

Rajendra had not furnished the audio tape of the alleged conversation on the supari deal, he said, adding that during investigation, the background of the deal will be verified.

He told reporters he had delayed lodging a complaint with police as he did not take it seriously, though he came to know about the attempt to kill him through an audio tape that came to his notice in January 2025.

"I complained to the SP, and spoke to him in detail. They (accused) did try to install GPS in my car. Of the total Rs 70lakh supari amount, Rs 5 lakh was paid. I don't know why they gave it. The names Soma and Bharat are in the audio. I don't know who they are but there is an 18-minute audio of a woman and a boy talking about it," Rajendra told reporters after meeting the SP.

'"I don't know what the enmity is for. I received the audio in January. I kept quiet, thinking it was a joke, but I found out it was serious and filed a complaint," he said.

Rajendra said the CID is investigating the alleged honey-trap attempt on his father Rajanna, and it has no relation to the alleged 'supari' deal.

MY TAKE

It's not the bill, but will, that can save Namma Bengaluru

NIRAD MUDUR
Deputy Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

IF you track Bengaluru's growth from the 1970s till date, and view it in terms of the growth of an individual, it would suffice to assume that Bengaluru today has been through childhood to directly get well into adulthood without experiencing adolescence and teenage. The city was once known to be the fastest growing urban centre in the world.

That such a development is not good for its phenomenally growing population, requiring urgent corrective measures, may be a justification for the latest perceived solution — The Greater Bengaluru Governance Bill, 2024. The bill was passed in the Assembly and Council in the recently concluded session, and sent to the Governor for his assent. But the latter has sent it back to the state government with his opinion that with a bill of such magnitude, the concerns of various civic organisations and stakeholders — which includes its 1.40 crore population — should be addressed before going ahead with it.

The bill — which is expected to be an expensive and tedious administrative affair if implemented after the Governor's assent — provides for core principles, institutions and processes for effective urban governance in the Greater Bengaluru Area to establish up to seven city corporations in the Greater Bengaluru Area for effective, participatory and responsive governance. Currently, Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) is the sole municipal corporation for Bengaluru.

If, or when, the bill becomes an act following the Governor's assent, the state government, through a notification, will constitute the Greater Bengaluru Authority for the Greater Bengaluru Area that could have up to seven separate municipal corporations under it, each headed by a commissioner, reporting to the chief commissioner, all appointed by the state government.

The ex-officio chairperson of the authority will be the chief minister, the minister in charge of Bengaluru development will be its ex-officio vice-chairperson, and the authority's chief commissioner will be its ex-officio member secretary. The authority's ex-officio members will be the ministers representing the legislative constituencies and the mayors of the city corporations in the Greater Bengaluru Area. Each city corporation in the Greater Bengaluru Area will nominate two as ex-officio members.

The other ex-officio members will be all the elected representatives of Lok Sabha, Rajya Sabha, State Legislative Assembly and Council whose constituencies are in the Greater Bengaluru Area; commissioner, Bangalore Development Authority (BDA); chairman, Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board(BWSSB); managing directors of Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC), Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL), Bangalore Electricity Supply Company (BESCOM) and Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Limited; deputy commissioners of jurisdictional revenue districts; Bengaluru police commissioner; superintendents of police with jurisdiction in part or full in any of the city corporations in the Greater Bengaluru Area; chief executive officer, Bengaluru Metropolitan Land Transport Authority (BMLTA); the chief town planner and the engineer-in-chief of the Greater Bengaluru Authority; and the director of Karnataka State Fire and Emergency Services.

It is almost the entire gamut of the state government and political machinery linked to Bengaluru that will cap the Greater Bengaluru Authority in an attempt to better administer the Greater Bengaluru Area.

But will Bengaluru's problems be solved by this? This question arises riding on the experience over the past years of one city corporation failing to cope with a relatively smaller Bengaluru, with lesser problems. In fact, the growing civic issues of Bengaluru were only because the right solutions were either not applied, or applied erroneously. In several cases, it was like a surgeon operating on the foot when the surgery was needed in the brain.

Take the traffic congestion problem. Instead of tightening driving licence rules to ensure that only the most deserving driver/rider candidates get licences, and enforcing traffic rules so stringently that they pose as credible deterrence to violations, the state government is pushing for adding roads, even tunnel roads. The truth is that existing roads, if properly maintained, are enough for even the increasing number of vehicles — as long as motorists use them in a responsible manner, that includes their own duty of preventing traffic jams. But we are being convinced to blame the roads for the congestion, implying the need for road projects, which all know are money spinners. If the correct solutions fail to be found to address the problems, even ten, twenty or thirty city corporations will fail to make Bengaluru a better place.

The Greater Bengaluru Authority does give hope of effectively bringing the various civic agencies under one umbrella, so that civic works are better coordinated in quicker time while ensuring better quality. But that could have been achieved even with one city corporation by streamlining BBMP and the civic agencies concerned. Blame it on the lack of political will. Now, the bill itself may be the missing political will in disguise.

Optimistically, let's hope it is. But not before due consultations are earnestly held with various sections of the citizens, civic organisations and a whole slew of experts concerned.

If the Greater Bengaluru Governance Bill 2024 is part of a mission to rid Bengaluru of its current — and increasing — problems, it needs to achieve that goal scientifically, efficiently and apolitically, failing which Namma Bengaluru might end up worse.

SUITCASE MURDER

ACCUSED WANTED TO SURRENDER, TRIED TO END LIFE NEAR PUNE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

RAKESH Rajendra Khedekar, the 36-year-old project manager with a private firm who had escaped to Pune after killing his wife Gauri Khedekar, alias Gauri Anil Sambrekar, 31, at their rented house in Hulimavu police station limits, drank phenyl in an attempted suicide bid.

Khedekar wanted to surrender before police, but fell unconscious just outside the police station. Pune police, who were tracking him following a requisition from Bengaluru police, immediately shifted him to a hospital in Shirwal, and after first aid, shifted him to another hospital on Sassoon Road. Rakesh is undergoing treatment, and said to be out of danger.

"After his discharge, he will be brought to the city. We will take him into custody and during interrogation, we will come to know the exact reason behind the murder. After postmortem, her body was handed over to her family, including her brother and sister-in-law who had come to Bengaluru from Maharashtra. She was cremated in Bengaluru," DCP (South East) Sarah Fathima said.

A fight over Gauri's job is said to be the reason behind her killing. Gauri, a mass media graduate, was working in Maharashtra and had quit her job before the couple moved to the city. Unable to find work in Bengaluru, she wanted to return to Maharashtra.

During an argument on that fateful night, Rakesh is alleged to have slapped her and in retaliation, she took a knife from the kitchen and threw it at him. Rakesh, who was hit by the knife, took the same knife and stabbed her in the neck three times.

After stuffing the body in the suitcase, he drove to Pune in his car. Around 5pm Thursday, he informed a friend that his wife had died by suicide, and also called his house owner.

Man held for killing wife, in-laws, step-daughter in Kodagu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Madikeri

KERALA Police arrested a man who allegedly murdered his wife, step-daughter and in-laws at a tribal settlement camp in Begur village of Ponnampet taluk in Kodagu on Friday morning. The accused has been identified as Girish, 35, who hails from Kerala.

According to sources, Girish allegedly stabbed his wife Naagi, 30, five-year-old step-daughter Kaveri and his in-laws Kariya and Gowri, both aged 70, to death with a knife and fled to Kerala. Investigations revealed that Girish was the third husband of Naagi and they got married a year ago. However, Girish suspected that Naagi continued to see her ex-husband. This is said to be the reason for Girish murdering them.

Girish and Naagi were living in Kerala after their marriage. Kaveri was living with her grandparents at Begur and Naagi used to visit them frequently. Naagi's parents, who worked as estate labourers, also owned a small piece of land where they planted coffee.

Girish visited his in-laws' house on Thursday. Superintendent of Police K Ramarajan visited Begur. Further investigations are on.

Kidwai's EWS patients waiting for health reports to be admitted

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

PATIENTS from economically weaker sections seeking treatment at Kidwai Memorial Institute of Oncology (KMIO), will now be admitted as in-patients while awaiting their final health investigation reports. Minister for Medical Education and Skill Development Dr Sharan Prakash Patil issued this directive to hospital authorities on Friday, ensuring that those travelling long distances do not have to struggle for accommodation in Bengaluru.

Minister Patil also directed authorities to convert Shantidhama, a special ward, and Aniketana, a semi-special ward, into general wards to accommodate more economically disadvantaged patients as over 90 per cent of Kidwai's patients fall under Below Poverty Line (BPL) category.

The decision, initially discussed during a recent review meeting at KMIO, was officially implemented following the minister's visit to the institute on Friday. The minister questioned why bed occupancy remained below 70 per cent despite high patient influx, to which officials at the hospital responded that beds were allotted only after final diagnosis, leaving patients without hospital accommodation during the waiting period. In response, Patil directed KMIO to change its policy and admit patients into wards until their reports are issued.

Highlighting the financial hardships faced by many patients, the minister stressed the need for this facility, especially for those travelling down from North Karnataka. "This may not be necessary for those living in and around Bengaluru, but is essential for patients from remote areas," he said. Since health reports typically take one to two days, a consent form will be provided for those opting for in-patient admission during this period, the minister added.

While KMIO offers free accommodation and meals at its dharamshala, the minister emphasized that patients should be admitted to hospital wards whenever beds are available. "Only if beds are full should they be sent to the dharamshala," he added. To implement these changes with immediate effect, KMIO issued an official circular and patient consent form from Friday.

AIADMK MLAs evicted en masse from TN House

They created ruckus when Speaker didn't allow them to raise cop's murder

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

THE AIADMK MLAs led by Leader of Opposition Edappadi K Palaniswami were evicted en masse on Friday. Speaker M Appavu ordered their eviction after they insisted on an opportunity to raise an issue of urgent public importance during the zero hour.

After being evicted from the Assembly, Palaniswami told the media outside that he tried to raise the murder of a police constable near Usilampatti on Thursday and the Speaker did not allow him.

After the question hour was over, Palaniswami started raising an issue. However, Leader of the House, Duraimurugan said the Speaker should allow the members to speak on a particular issue if the particular member had given notice in advance for raising the issue and only if the minister concerned is ready with a reply. He said allowing the Leader of the Opposition would set a bad precedent.

Palaniswami responded there were precedents for raising issues of urgent public importance during the zero hour. As the AIADMK MLAs insisted that Palaniswami be provided the opportunity, Chief Minister MK Stalin echoed Duraimurugan's views. Meanwhile, the AIADMK MLAs started raising slogans and the House. Amidst noisy scenes, the Speaker went on to call Deputy CM Udhayanidhi Stalin for the next agenda to provide his reply to the discussion on budget demand for his departments.

At this juncture, Duraimurugan requested the Speaker to set the House in order so that the Udhayanidhi could continue his reply.

Palaniswami, meanwhile, was seen arguing angrily with the Speaker. Despite the Speaker's requests, the AIADMK MLAs continued to be on their feet, raising slogans. Following this, Appavu ordered their eviction for the day, following which Palaniswami and his party MLAs were evicted.

ODISHA POLICE FILE RIOTING CHARGES AGAINST CONG LEADERS

BHUBANESWAR: A day after violence marked the Vidhan Sabha gherao programme of Congress, Odisha police on Friday booked senior party leaders as well as activists for rioting, assault on public servants and a host of other charges. Police refused to name anyone but said "all Congress leaders and workers present at the protest site have been booked.' A total of three cases were registered by Capital police station on the day over the series of protests on Wednesday and Thursday. A separate case was registered under section 327 of BNS for use of fire or explosive substances. Around 15 policemen were injured when the protesters resorted to stone pelting and hurling of chairs during the Vidhan Sabha gherao. Several Congress activists were also hurt in the police lathi-charge. The police, however, did not spell out if it would move to arrest the senior Congress leaders for the violence.

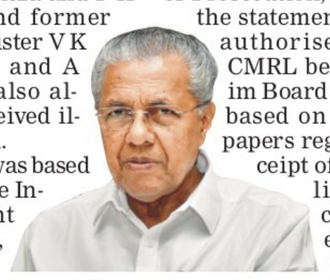
Kerala HC dismisses pleas against Pinarayi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE@Kochi

THE Kerala High Court on Friday dismissed two petitions seeking a vigilance investigation into the alleged illegal financial transactions between Cochin Minerals and Rutile Limited (CMRL) and Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan, his daughter T Veena, and three UDF leaders. The petitions were filed by Congress MLA Mathew Kuzhalnadan and the late Gireesh Babu of Kalamassery.

"An unnecessary investigation or an enquiry into an offence under the Prevention of Corruption Act against a public servant based on suspicions may cause a blemish on his career or reputation. Being called to appear before a criminal court as an accused is a serious matter that affects one's dignity, self-respect, and image in society," said Justice K Babu.

The complainants alleged that CMRL paid ₹1.72 crore to Exalogic Solution Pvt Ltd and Veena T, which was a bribe paid to Pinarayi Vijayan for doing favours and misusing his official position. Besides, MLAs Ramesh Chennithala and P K Kunhalikutty and former public works minister V K Ebrahim Kunju, and A Govindan were also alleged to have received illegal gratification.



The complaint was based on the order of the Interim Settlement Board, New Delhi, wherein many admissions were made by CMRL officers that would reportedly disclose offences under the Prevention of Corruption Act. The IT department had found that CMRL has been systematically inflating its expenses and made payments in cash to several individuals, including media houses and politicians.

T A Shaji, Director General of Prosecution, submitted that the statement made by the authorised officer of CMRL before the Interim Board for Settlement based on certain loose papers regarding the receipt of money by political leaders cannot be treated as a fact constituting the alleged offence.

Senior advocate P Vijayabhanu, counsel for CMRL, submitted that the confession alleged to have been given by the Chief Financial Officer of CMRL before the Interim Board for Settlement has no evidentiary value, and the same cannot be relied upon to set the criminal law in motion.

The court said the complainant could only place certain materials highlighting 'suspicions' based on the allegations in the complaint and 'not facts' constituting the alleged offences. The court made it clear that rejection of the complaint does not preclude the complainant from filing a fresh complaint with adequate materials in the future.

Zero tolerance to corruption: Kerala BJP chief

Thiruvananthapuram: Making his intentions clear on charting a new course for the state BJP which has been crippled by a host of issues ranging from groupism to alleged hawala transactions, new state president Rajeev Chandrasekhar has told the core committee members that he would have zero tolerance towards corruption and tainted personalities. Moreover, Chandrasekhar made it clear that the defectors from other political parties who joined the BJP would be given priority during candidate selection. Chandrasekhar's warning is seen as a message from the party national leadership as he has been handpicked by Union Home Minister Amit Shah to lead the Kerala BJP in the coming local body and assembly elections.

Greens worry over high number of proposals for homestays in Bandipur

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

WITH the increase in tourist footfall to Bandipur National Park and a growing demand for accommodation, there are many proposals to set up homestays in the woods in recent times.

Many people who own land in Mangala panchayat falling in Bandipur, have submitted more than two dozen applications seeking no-objection certificates for the construction of homestays, and a few others have applied for regularisation of unauthorised structures.

Though there are quite a few resorts operated by the government and private players over the years, and Bandipur is registering maximum carrying capacity, greens and the forest department have strongly opposed opening of homestays and construction of resorts as the tiger population has decreased.

Wildlife activist Malleshappa said the tiger population, which was 408 in 2023, has decreased to 393, which is most disturbing. He feels the reasons are heavy eco-tourism activities, increase in safari trips, human habitation and construction activities.

He said the government should get a new CD shot to know the magnitude of violations, compared to the CD made in 2012, declaring the eco-sensitive zone covering 123 villages and listing structures inside Bandipur National Park that will expose the nexus between the forest department, officials and property owners.

Wildlife activist Rajkumar said there are many applications pending before N Begur, Gopalaswamy Hills, Sargur and Hediyala panchayats for construction activities and homestays. He said the committee should reject applications if they fall under eco-sensitive zones. The greens also fear that the mounting demand for lifting night traffic ban would be a death blow to the national park, that has high wildlife density and is one of the most sought wildlife sanctuary destinations.

Meanwhile, the forest department has appealed to the revenue and panchayat raj departments to reject proposals appealing for construction of homestays in the tiger reserve. For any new tourism activities, applicants should seek permission from the Union forest and environment minister and regional commissioner, who preside over the Bandipur Eco Sensitive Zone Monitoring Committee.

ACF Naveen Kumar said they are not against farmers constructing houses and sheds for agricultural purposes, but will not allow any structures for commercial activities. He said there are many cases where outsiders have purchased and applied for permission, claiming they are locals, to carry out commercial activities. He said Bandipur has more than 200 tigers, and regulations are in place to check man-animal conflict.

In a first, GI-tagged coffee drip bags launched

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Indian Coffee Board launched its new Geographical Indication (GI) tagged coffee drip bags on Friday. Just like tea bags which are convenient and easy to carry around, the newly-launched coffee drip bags are portable, except the mechanism involves pouring hot water inside the coffee bag unlike the dipping method in tea bags. The coffee bags thus brings a blissful coffee experience to every household, designed for convenience and authenticity which suits homebrewers, office and travel needs.

Bringing the richness of coffee in its pure form to coffee lovers across, the single serve, easy to brew coffee drip bags, whose beans are sourced from different parts of India, includes variants like Coorg Arabica, Chikkamagaluru Arabica, Bababuani Arabica and Arau Valley Arabica. Moreover, the coffee bags are made from biodegradable components making each buyer a conscious consumer taking a leap towards environmental consciousness and sustainability.

This innovation ensures quality and accessibility while supporting dedicated coffee farmers in India. "The main motive is to popularise GI-tagged coffee amongst domestic as well as international consumers and to promote a good coffee culture," said Dr KG Jagadeesha, the secretary and chief executive officer of the Coffee Board of India. He added that the Board has also collaborated with e-commerce websites.

'X Corp's plea misconceived and contrary to law'

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

THE Union government contended before the Karnataka High Court that X Corp's prayer for issuing a writ declaring Section 79(3)(b) of the Information Technology Act, 2000, does not confer the authority to issue information blocking orders under the IT Act.

It further declared that such orders can only be issued under Section 69A of the IT Act, read with the Information Technology (Procedure and Safeguards for Blocking for Access of Information by Public) Rules, 2009, is misconceived and contrary to Section 79(3)(b) read with Rule 3(1)(d) of the Information Technology (Intermediary Guidelines and Digital Media Ethics Code) Rules, 2021.

It contended that grounds for issuing blocking orders under Section 69A of the Information Technology Act, 2000, are in the interest of the sovereignty and integrity of India, defence and security of the state, friendly relations with foreign states or public order, or for preventing incitement to the commission of any cognizable offence relating to those issues. The Union government stated that the impugned notices issued under Section 79(3)(b) and Rule 3(1)(d) Rules are also in the interest of decency or morality, in relation to contempt of court, defamation or any information which is prohibited under any law for the time being in force, and issues covered under Section 69A.

The Union government submitted that Section 69A explicitly grants power to the Central government to block access to information, complete with penal consequences for non-compliance, whereas Section 79 merely conditions the availability of safe harbour protection on intermediaries' compliance with notifications regarding unlawful acts. X Corp has mistakenly conflated the concepts of "blocking orders" under Section 69A with "notices" under Section 79(3)(b).

The Central government contended that X Corp's request to issue a writ restraining the Union ministries from taking coercive action, its representatives, employees, or officers for not joining the Censorship (Sahyog) Portal, and to quash the office memorandum to notify and designate nodal officers to handle unlawful content in cyberspace and notifications issued by the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) is misconceived and contrary to rules. With counsel for petitioner seeking time to go through the objections and making submissions, Justice M Nagaprasanna adjourned the hearing to April 3.

CYBERCRIME DATA

Submitting cybercrime data in support of its blocking orders, the government stated that the Indian Cyber Crime Coordination Centre (I4C) established to facilitate reporting of cybercrime incidents by citizens received 56.28 lakh complaints, resulting in the registration of 1.37 lakh FIRs, from August 30, 2019, to December 31, 2024. The number of complaints stood at 2,55,745 in 2020, 4,52,429 in 2021 and increased to 22,68,346 in 2024, a five-fold (401%) increase between 2021 and 2024.

Last rites performed in Bidi

IN a note, the couple stated that they had borrowed money from a few people in Goa to pay the fraudsters. They stated that their loans should be cleared after selling their assets. While Flaviana's body was lying in a room, Diego was found dead inside the sump of their house. After seeing the bodies, their neighbours alerted the police.

In the note, Diego stated that their bodies should be donated to a medical college. As per Diego's wish, the bodies were supposed to be handed over to the Belagavi Institute of Medical Sciences (BIMS). But sources said BIMS officials did not accept the bodies due to some technical reasons. Their last rites were performed at a cemetery in Bidi. Diego was a retired official of Maharashtra Mantralaya (secretariat). After his retirement, Diego used to coach students for competitive exams.

CONFLICT MITIGATION

Karnataka tries out new methods to keep elephants at bay

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA'S USP is not just industrial innovation and ITeS, it is also sought after by other Indian states and foresters. Reason: The Karnataka forest department has tried the highest number of methods to mitigate man-elephant conflict and keep elephants away from human habitation.

The State has become a case study for others looking at adopting different methods. Karnataka houses the highest elephant population of over 6,400. Conflict cases are also rising. So far this year, 36 people have died in conflict, last year it was 43 and prior to that it was 50.

Along with using, traditional methods like elephant proof trenches (EPT) and honey beered chilli rope fences, the Karnataka forest department is now using state-of-the-art technology and artificial intelligence (AI) tools. The department has partnered with ace research institutions like IISc and tech-driven companies from Bengaluru and other states.

The list of methods adopted include EPT, rope fences, 3-4 types of solar fencing, special concrete walls, rail barricades, barbed wire and mobile technology-enabled smart fences. Radio collars are also fitted on herd leaders and lone tuskers to track their movements. Villagers and coffee estate owners are also being sent alerts by foresters on elephant movement.

The latest is tree/pole mounted AI-enabled elephant deterrent device developed by a Hosur-based company, which was showcased at the recently-held Bengaluru tech summit.

Explaining the device, a senior forest official said these sensors, around 1.5ft tall, start blinking and generating different sounds as the elephant nears. Different kinds of sounds are stored in the device, including crackers, people shooing, the buzzing of honey bees and loud sirens.

The department has completed two months of trials in MM Hills and is now trying it in Hassan, Ramaganara and Madikeri. Similarly, taking a leaf from Jim Corbett National Park, Karnataka foresters installed high-resolution AI cameras along Ramanagara river and hilly terrains to recognise tiger, leopard, elephants and humans, and send alerts to staffers. Another method called Garuda, which was also appreciated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in his Mann Ki Baat, is installing AI sensors on existing camera traps along outer boundaries of Nagarhole Tiger Reserve, and sending alerts.

Additional Principal Chief Conservator of Forests Kumar Pushkar said other states are looking at Karnataka for solutions, including Andhra Pradesh, West Bengal, Chhattisgarh, Tamil Nadu and Madhya Pradesh. "We are also looking at what best we can adopt from them to mitigate conflict. We are using the best of technological solutions available in Karnataka," he added.

INDIAN EXPRESS IS NOT AN INDUSTRY. IT IS A MISSION.

— Ramnath Goenka

RAISE CREDIT GROWTH, BUT NOT AT THE COST OF LOAN QUALITY

BANKS' non-food credit growth has slowed for the eighth consecutive month—what printed at 12 percent this February was at 16.6 percent a year ago. The decline is primarily due to a drop in personal and credit card loans following tighter norms by the RBI last year. While growth in personal loans more than halved to 8.4 percent in February from 19.5 percent a year ago, growth in outstanding credit card debt dropped to 11.2 percent from 31 percent. Similarly, credit growth in the services sector decelerated to 13 percent from 21.4 percent, primarily due to a drop in non-banking financial companies' (NBFC) loans, while loans to industries grew 7.3 percent, lower than the 8.4 percent a year ago. Going by the trendline, rating agencies have revised their 2024-25 forecasts downwards to 10.5-11 percent from the earlier estimates of about 11.6-12.5 percent. They also believe that credit growth will remain subdued in 2025-26 at 9.7-10.3 percent.

Thanks to the rush in retail loans, banks' loan books grew sharply in recent years. A worried RBI swiftly imposed higher capital norms for personal and credit card disbursals, as well as credit to NBFCs, which in turn has slowed credit demand in the past eight months. Fearing loan defaults, the central bank in November 2023 had increased risk weights to mandate banks and NBFCs to set aside 25 percent more capital for every retail loan disbursed. Banks, on their part, scaled back to reduce credit-deposit ratio amid thinning deposits. Both measures have had their desired impact, with unsecured loan growth slowing to low single-digits. So, in February, the RBI has partially reversed the tightness of the norms, leading analysts to expect a growth rebound in the coming quarters.

Broadly, both private and public sector banks are turning in profits. But net interest margins are likely to shrink given the rising deposit rates and incoming rate cuts. While asset quality remains strong, with the non-performing asset ratio touching a multiyear low of 2.6 percent last September, bad loans are expected to rise to about 3 percent by 2025-26. Lenders are also reworking strategies to improve their balance sheets by reducing risky loans and mobilising retail deposits. While the latter move is important, banks and the regulator must also ensure stringent credit evaluation for both industrial and retail loans, so that higher lending does not turn toxic yet again.

CONSCIENCE, NOT AI, CAN CURB TRUANCY IN GOVT

KARNATAKA has launched an initiative for using artificial intelligence to streamline attendance among government employees. After taking note of some public servants fudging their attendance data while using biometric systems, the state is now set to introduce the Karnataka Advanced Attendance Management System (KAAMS) in all 70 government departments, where over 5 lakh employees work. It's an app developed by the Centre for e-Governance at the department for personnel and administrative reforms (DPAR). The system employs AI tools with geographic information system, GPS and geo-fencing to ensure that employees are punctual and disciplined. The app was tested at some health department offices.

For the AI tool to be enabled, the KAAMS app needs to be saved on employees' mobile phones. The registration requires Aadhaar and a photo to enable the attendance to be logged against a unique employee. Data is then procured from the government's human resource management service. The employee's selfie taken during registration is compared with the Aadhaar data using the AI tool while marking attendance. Only the mobile phone is needed to mark attendance, which is recorded only after an employee enters the office—an assurance facilitated by geo-fencing, a technology that creates a virtual geographical boundary within which some app functions can be enabled. However, officials from DPAR's e-governance centre have clarified that the employees' movements will not be tracked, considering privacy issues.

The new tech may appear foolproof, but it still leaves scope for truant employees to hoodwink the system. An employee can always leave behind the mobile phone used to mark the AI-based attendance in the office and exit the premises without disturbing the geo-fence, nor alerting anyone. Government offices are known for absenteeism, a practice of using loopholes that recently saw a daring case where a son filled in at work for his mother, an employee in a civic administration office in Bengaluru—only to be found out by the lokayukta.

Government employees cannot afford to forget that their work affects a large number of innocent citizens. In a state whose premier political edifice—the Vidhana Soudha—screams from its ramparts 'Government work is god's work', conscience should be the prime 'technology' at work to keep truancy at bay—for the citizen's benefit.

QUICK TAKE

SHARING THE TREASURE

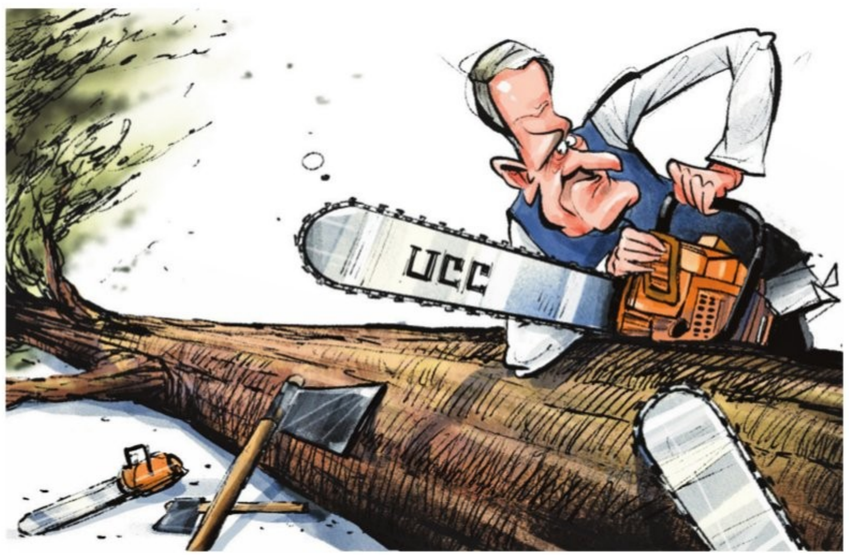
THE parliamentary culture committee's proposal to set up a heritage repatriation fund is indeed laudable. We Indians love wringing our hands that so much wealth has been looted from our land, but have never quite put together a cogent quest to get them back. The pace of repatriation has picked up over the past decade—thanks to the government's efforts and a global shift in understanding the ownership of plundered items. We must also share our treasures with our countrymen in a more meaningful manner—the freshly-returned items and those that we have had all this while. To begin, our museums need more support, better curation and smarter outreach programmes.

State assemblies don't seem to have the legislative competence to enact a Uniform Civil Code. It appears to be just another politically opportune and socially divisive move

WHO GETS TO IMPOSE UNIFORM CIVIL CODE?

KAPIL SIBAL

Senior lawyer and member of Rajya Sabha



SOURAV ROY

TODAY, let's explore whether any state in the Union of India has the authority to enact and enforce a Uniform Civil Code.

Article 44 of the Constitution is part of the Directive Principles of State Policy. At the time of framing of the Constitution, there was no Uniform Civil Code in place. Given the diversity of India, there were several laws and customs of communities, including religious communities, in place. It is in this context that Article 44 was drafted, mandating, "The State shall endeavour to secure for the citizens a Uniform Civil Code throughout the territory of India."

There are three expressions in this provision that require attention. First is the word "State", second is the expression "endeavour to secure" for its "citizens", and the third is the "Uniform Civil Code throughout the territory of India".

The "State" here means not a state government, but the Union of India, since such a law, if framed by the Union, will be applicable throughout the territory of India. That cannot happen if the law is framed by a state government. The second clue that the State means the Union of India comes from the expression "citizens". We all know that the status of citizenship is granted only by the Union. Those residing within a state are not its citizens.

Article 44 further mandates that the "State", meaning the Union of India, shall endeavour to enact a Uniform Civil Code. It seems clear to me that a state government cannot, under its legislative powers, enact a law pursuant to the mandate under Article 44 of the Constitution.

It is, therefore, clear that any provision under the Uniform Civil Code, Uttarakhand, 2024, which applies to the residents of Uttarakhand, excluding tribals, would fall foul of the laws framed by the Union of India.

Even though the law has received presidential consent, it still falls foul of both parliamentary statutes and the personal law of religious communities. For example, if a marriage or a divorce is recognised under a parliamentary statute, it may not be recognised under the Uttarakhand Civil Code, because, in Uttarakhand, an enquiry may be conducted which may not recognise such a marriage or a divorce. The sub-registrar, under the Uttarakhand Civil Code, has been conferred with such powers.

In addition, many of the provisions fall foul of the right to privacy recognised by the Supreme Court as a fundamental right. This allows for vigilantes to get into the act of questioning all forms of marriages and divorce, including inter-caste and inter-faith marriages.

Article 254 of the Constitution stipulates that if there is any inconsistency between laws made by parliament and those made by the legislatures of states, such of the provisions of state laws that are inconsistent with the law made by parliament would be repugnant, and therefore, would be declared void to the extent of the inconsistency.

Marriage of Hindus under the Hindu Marriage Act 1955 cannot be questioned under any state legislation. Interfaith marriages under the Special Marriage Act 1954 also cannot be questioned under state legislation, since the rights acquired under a parliamentary legislation cannot be taken away through burdensome state laws.

Even more surprising is that Uttarakhand's Uniform Civil Code seeks to legislate on live-in relationships. There is no provision in the Constitution which entitles the state legislature to enact a law seeking to regulate live-in relationships. The legislative remit of a state legislature is confined to what is included in Entry 5 of the Concurrent List, and that too as long as the laws made by a state legislature are consistent with the laws made by parliament.

The subject matter of Entry 5 of List III is: Marriage and divorce; infants and minors; adoption; wills, intestacy and succession; joint family and partition; all matters in respect of which parties in judicial proceedings were immediately before the commencement of this Constitution subject to their personal law.

It is clear from this entry that state legislatures do not have the legislative competence to deal with matters relating to live-in relationships, which according to the legislature is akin to a marriage. Such a power, if at all, would reside with parliament under Entry 97 of List I, a residual entry that empowers parliament to legislate on matters not covered specifically under lists II and III. Parliament has passed no such law. Therefore, the entire chapter dealing with the regulation of live-in relationships is without authority of law.

A political play

The desire to enact a Uniform Civil Code has been a part of the BJP's agenda, reflected in its various manifestos of 1989, 1996, 1998, 2009, 2014, 2019 and 2024.

It is also interesting to note that no non-BJP ruled state has made any public announcement to enact such legislation. So the endeavour of the BJP in various states where they are in power is to politicise the issue, and target the minority community with the intent to bring their laws in conformity with the laws applicable to the majority community. It is yet another way of polarising the polity and raising issues which are divisive in nature instead of those which need to be addressed.

Obviously, the intent of such an endeavour is to divert the attention of the people from the pressing issues of the day.

The home minister, in his speech in parliament on December 17, 2024, said that the BJP government would enact such a law in all states to implement Article 44 of the Constitution. This itself suggests that the intent behind such a divisive law is to muddy the waters for political gain. From 'love jihad' to 'flood jihad', triple talaq to the three-language formula, "goli maro" to "shamshan ghat", "qabristan" to what you eat and what you trade in, putting up names of owners of restaurants to not buying everyday requirements from shops belonging to minority communities—are all matters that seek to destroy the fabric of this country.

The Uniform Civil Code is another such endeavour. (Views are personal)

BEFORE TACKLING HEAT, LET'S KNOW ITS EFFECT

PRATIK KANJILAL

Fellow, Henry J Leir Institute of Migration and Human Security, Fletcher School, Tufts University

SPEAKEASY

THE cruellest month begins next week, and it's time to brace for another summer of life-threatening heat. Earlier in March, former WHO chief scientist Soumya Swaminathan said India is probably undercounting heat-related deaths, and spoke of the need for better tracking and policy interventions based on reliable data.

Last year, the nonprofit HeatWatch reported 733 deaths and over 40,000 heatstroke cases from 17 states, while the Union health ministry reported about half as many deaths. Governments like to downplay bad news, but uneven data collection standards are also at work here. The huge variation reminds us of how starvation deaths used to be reported decades ago, when extreme poverty was commonplace.

The eventual cause of most deaths is heart failure, but it can be brought on by a wide variety of factors; it was very easy for malnutrition and starvation deaths to be attributed to heart failure. Cultural ignorance also rang false alarms about starvation. Newspapers reported sensationally that tribals and poor communities in underdeveloped areas were living on roots and leaves. But these were sometimes traditional foods whose consumption has receded in the cities.

Geography matters, too amaranth greens are commonly used as food in the east, but not regarded as food elsewhere. Similar confusions are now being seen in reporting the effects of extreme heat.

Traditionally, public health monitoring has focused on heatwaves (the 2024 count was the highest in 14 years) and heatstroke. The condition is associated with persistent heat in a dehydrating climate, and low-tech and cheap interventions like 'chik' drapes and coolers were useful antidotes. Now, the picture has changed. Irrigation, intensive cultivation, plantations, and afforestation have increased humidity in traditionally dry zones, rendering cooling through evaporation difficult. In thickly populated areas, the effect is palpable as time passes, the heatmaps of cities are turning red.

The Shared Socioeconomic Pathways (SSP) defined by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change in 2021 suggests how the world could heat up. SSP1 is the most optimistic scenario and assumes that governments will promote sustainability. In SSP5, the world continues to rely on fossil fuels t, but invests progressively in health, education, and institutions, amplifies globalisation, and can contain global problems like pollution. The middle-of-the-road SSP2 is business as usual uneven growth, slow but steady progress towards climate goals, more intelligent use of energy, and a taper in population growth.

AFP

Former WHO chief scientist Soumya Swaminathan worried recently that India may be undercounting heat-related deaths. While misattribution is certainly a factor, cultural ignorance is also to blame

SSP2 was taken to be the most credible storyline, but now, the world seems to be turning towards SSP3 and SSP4, which feature growing inequality among people, nations, and regions, and competitive nationalism, which valorises national and regional issues, and fails to unite to address global challenges like the environment. In some areas, this disunity has been visible. The Arctic, where warming seas present a serious problem, remains the domain of eight stakeholder nations with territory in the region.

But the Arctic is called the weather factory of the world, in recognition of its role in determining global weather patterns. But due to geographical distance, countries in South Asia, which are feeling the effects of climate change very keenly, have almost no say in how Arctic ecology is conserved. By fragmentation, the world order, nationalism, and regionalism would leave the least capable and most vulnerable nations to face their problems including those created far away on their own. This is unrealistic because public health problems do not respect borders.

In the past, bacterial diseases like the plague have swept across borders, even across continents and oceans, and viral diseases like Covid are still doing it, even as TB is making a comeback. However, communicable diseases are no longer the world's biggest killers. Lifestyle disorders like diabetes and cardiovascular and neurological conditions have assumed the mantle. How the weather affects their prognosis remains unknown, but the effect will be felt everywhere.

The focus is currently on counting excess deaths and hospitalisations, because it will take years yet for the effects of weather to be correlated with morbidity due to lifestyles.

Age-related disorders like Alzheimer's and dementia, whose incidence is increasing, are of interest in this context. A study in progress among slash-and-burn cultivators and hunter-gatherers in the Amazon forest of Bolivia confirms something we sense instinctively 'primitive' cultures suffer from a lot of communicable diseases but almost no lifestyle disorders, including those associated with ageing. There is growing evidence in support of the folk belief that lifestyle disorders are associated with modern living. If there's any truth in that, they may be exacerbated by anthropogenic factors like extreme heat.

If evolving global politics favours disunity among nations, as it seems to be doing, issues that require concerted action and do not respect borders, like the environment, will be among the first casualties. And the developing nations will find themselves saddled with the burden of poorly understood diseases, and of conditions like heat stress, on their own.

Nod to 2 mega infra projects in Bihar

₹6.3K cr for Kosi-Mechi river-linking, ₹3.7K cr for Patna-Sasaram cleared for poll-bound state

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Union Cabinet on Friday approved two mega infrastructure projects — the Kosi-Mechi river-linking worth ₹6,282 crore and National Highway between Patna and Sasaram with an estimated cost of ₹3,712 crore — for poll-bound Bihar.

Meanwhile, the Centre also gave its nod to a hike in Dearness Allowance (DA) and Dearness Relief (DR) by 2% of basic pay for central government employees and pensioners and nutrient-based subsidy worth ₹37,216 crore for P&K fertilizers during the Kharif season.

Briefing media on the decisions taken by the Union Cabinet, chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Information & Broadcasting minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said the greenfield road project connecting Patna with Sasaram in Bihar will be carried out in two stretches. The first will run 74.43km and will be built from scratch in two years, while the second, construction of 45.67km and redevelopment of 10.6km, will be completed in 30 months.

"This project will also connect five national highways and four state highways. The road will act as an artery and significantly reduce congestion," Vaishnaw said, adding that the highway will connect Patna airport with the upcoming airport at Bihta, and major railway stations at Sasaram, Arrah, Danapur, and Patna, besides providing direct access to Patna Ring Road, ensuring multimodal connectivity for passengers and freight.

Another project for Bihar – the Kosi-Mechi river-linking – has been approved under the Pradhan Mantri Krishi Sinchai Yojana Accelerated Irrigation Benefits Programme (PMKSY-AIBP). It will be built on Hybrid Annuity Mode at an estimated cost of ₹6,282 crore, the Union minister said.

The project envisages diversion of a part of surplus Kosi water for extending irrigation to Mahananda basin in Bihar by remodeling existing Eastern Kosi Main Canal. Out of the total cost, ₹3,652.56 crore will be given as central assistance to Bihar and is scheduled for completion by March 2029, the minister added.

Responding to a question during the briefing, Vaishnaw said discussions have been held with Nepal regarding the project, adding that the Kosi-Mechi river-link is expected to bring major improvement in Bihar flood management. Once completed, the project aims to provide additional irrigation to 2,10,516 hectares of farmland in Araria, Purnea, Kishanganj, and Katihar districts during the Kharif season, he noted.

Meanwhile, in a good news to central government employees and pensioners, the Cabinet increased the DA and DR by 2% of basic pay, effective from January 1 this year. This benefits nearly 1.15 crore government employees and pensioners with at a cost of ₹6,614.04 crore per annum on the exchequer.

Besides, ₹37,216.15 crore proposal to provide subsidised fertilizers to farmers across the country during the Kharif season (April-September) was also approved by Cabinet.

Good news for central govt employees, pensioners

In a good news to central government employees and pensioners, the Union Cabinet increased the Dearness Allowance and Dearness Relief by 2% of basic pay, effective from January 1 this year. This benefits nearly 1.15 crore central government employees and pensioners at a combined cost of ₹6,614.04 crore per annum on the exchequer.

CCS okays induction of 156 indigenous combat copters

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE Ministry of Defence on Friday signed two contracts with Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) for the supply of 156 Light Combat Helicopters (LCH), Prachand, along with training and other associated equipment, worth 62,700 crore, excluding taxes.

The contract for the lease of the first Flight Refuelling Aircraft (FRA) was also firmed up. While the first contract is for supply of 66 LCHs to the Indian Air Force (IAF), the second is for procurement of 90 LCHs to the Indian Army.

"The supply of these helicopters shall commence from the third year and will be spread over the next five years. The contracts will enhance the Armed Forces' combat capability at high altitudes," the Ministry said in a statement.

LCH is India's first indigenously designed and developed combat helicopter capable of operating at an altitude of over 16,400ft. This version of the LCH will consist of more modern and indigenous systems than the ones already inducted into the IAF and the Army.

HIGH-ALTITUDE COMBAT READY

The Light Combat Helicopter Limited Series Production (LSP) is an indigenously designed, developed and manufactured state-of-the-art combat helicopter

Powered by twin Shakti Engine with range of 500 km and top speed of 268 kmph, it is compatible for high-altitude deployment at about 5000 metre (16,400 feet)

Weapons onboard include Air to Air Missile Mistral 2, Anti Tank Guided Missile Dhruvastra, and 70 MM Rockets

"This helicopter has many components designed & manufactured in India and is planned to achieve an overall indigenous content of over 65% during the execution of this procurement. This will involve over 250 domestic companies, mostly MSMEs, and will generate over 8,500 direct and indirect jobs," it added.

The Ministry also signed a contract with Metrea Management for Wet Leasing of one FRA to provide air-to-air refuelling training to IAF pilots and the Indian Navy.

Metrea will provide an FRA (KC135 aircraft) within six months, which will be the first FRA to be wet-leased by the IAF. "With the signing of these three contracts, the total number of contracts signed by the Ministry of Defence during 2024-25 reaches 193 with overall contract value exceeding ₹2,09,050 crore, which is the highest ever and nearly double the previous highest figure."

In March 2022, the Cabinet Committee on Security approved procurement of 15 LCH Limited Series Production at ₹3,887 crore along with infrastructure worth ₹377 crore.

India closely monitoring attacks on minorities in B'desh, Pak: Jaishankar

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

UNION Minister for External Affairs (MEA) S Jaishankar on Friday said India is closely monitoring the incidents of violence against minorities in Pakistan and Bangladesh and making its position 'well known'. Replying to supplementary questions during Question Hour in Lok Sabha, Jaishankar flagged 10 incidents involving attacks on Hindus in Pakistan in February this year, saying India cannot change the "fanatical and bigoted mindset" of the neighbouring nation. "Even Indira Gandhi could not do it," he said.

Among the 10 incidents, seven are related to abduction and forcible conversion, two are cases of abduction and one is related to police action against students celebrating Holi, the minister pointed out.

"Our representatives at the UN Human Rights Council pointed out that Pakistan is a country where human rights abuses, persecution of minorities, and systematic erosion of democratic values are state policies which brazenly harbour UN sanctioned terrorists," Jaishankar said, adding that Pakistan is no position to lecture anyone and should focus on providing governance and justice to its own people.

He informed the House that there were three other cases related to atrocities against members of the Sikh community. In one case, a Sikh family was attacked; in another, a Sikh family was threatened for reopening an old Gurdwara, and another case involved abduction and conversion of a girl from the Sikh community, the MEA said.

Jaishankar asserted that India is flagging these incidents in the international level. "Like in Pakistan, we track the well-being of minorities in Bangladesh too... In 2024, we had 2,400 incidents related to attacks on minorities and in 2025, there were 72... I have taken it up with my counterpart there. The foreign secretary too took it up during his visit," Jaishankar said.

India-Sri Lanka set to sign defence MoU during Modi's visit next week

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA and Sri Lanka are expected to sign a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) to elevate their defence cooperation during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to the island nation next week, after attending the sub-regional BIMSTEC summit in Thailand.

After attending the Bay of Bengal Initiative for Multi-Sectoral Technical and Economic Cooperation (BIMSTEC) Summit in Bangkok on April 3 and 4, PM Modi is scheduled to travel to Sri Lanka for a state visit from April 4-6, at the invitation of Sri Lankan President Anura Kumara Dissanayake, becoming the first foreign guest of the new government.

"An MoU on defence cooperation is expected to be signed during the visit. It would be a first," Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri said.

The robust diplomatic relations between the two neighbours are expected to get a further boost as PM Modi will be the first foreign leader to be hosted by President Dissanayake in his capacity as Sri Lanka's President.

Modi will also launch the construction of a power project with Sri Lankan President Anura Kumara Dissanayake.

"This (proposed 120-megawatt venture in the northeastern coastal district of Trincomalee), in many senses, is going to be a milestone in the bilateral partnership," Misri told reporters in New Delhi.

"They will together dedicate several projects that are being built with Indian assistance in Sri Lanka and will also witness the exchange of several MoUs pertaining to energy connectivity, digitisation, health, and multisectoral grant assistance," Misri said.

During his stay in Colombo, PM Modi will meet other political leaders of the nation before travelling to Anuradhapura with Dissanayake to inaugurate development projects implemented with Indian financial assistance.

Both leaders will pay respects at the historic Jaya Sri Maha Bodhi temple complex in Anuradhapura. PM Modi also visited the temple, which holds special significance in the India-Sri Lanka civilizational partnership, during his 2015 visit to the country.

The Indian government asserts that it has given the "highest priority" to the safety, security, and welfare of Indian fishermen and has consistently raised these issues through bilateral mechanisms, diplomatic channels, and various official interactions, including during the Prime Minister's recent meeting with the Sri Lankan President in December 2024.

'Security interests of 2 countries interlinked'

India and Sri Lanka discussed the need to step up the defence and security ties during Dissanayake's India visit last December. "We completely agree that our security interests are interlinked. We have decided to conclude the defence cooperation agreement soon," PM Modi had said.

Ahead of Madurai meet, Karat says INDIA bloc lacks clarity, coordination

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

AHEAD of the Madurai Party Congress, senior Politburo member and interim coordinator of the Communist Party of India-Marxist (CPM), Prakash Karat has said there is no clarity on moving forward after the Lok Sabha elections because of the lack of collective discussions in the Indian National Developmental Inclusive Alliance (INDIA) bloc. He said his party wants the coalition's constituents to come to a common understanding on its future course of action.

He also exuded confidence that the alliance will continue, not "dependent on what happens nationally" but on agreements reached on a state-wise basis.

The CPM's 24th Congress takes place in Madurai from April 2 to 6. "There has been no clarity about how to go forward with the India bloc after the Lok Sabha polls. In Parliament, INDIA bloc parties cooperate on all the issues and policy matters that have come up, but there has been no discussion outside of that. Such a discussion is required. It is not for us to decide anything; we are not such a major force, but we would like all the parties to sit together and discuss and come to a common understanding on how to proceed. That has not happened so far," Karat told this newspaper, maintaining that the party will take a call on the poll pact on a state-by-state basis.

Karat stated that because there has been no collective discussion, there is a general feeling that it has become directionless now.

Regarding the possibility of reaching an understanding, Karat said that the commitment is that the anti-BJP and non-BJP should unite. Citing existing alliance arrangements in Bihar and Tamil Nadu, the CPM leader said, "There is already a Mahagatbandhan (grand alliance), which, even, preceded the INDIA bloc, so that will probably continue and may be strengthened...in each state we will take it state by state."

Waqf Bill to be tabled in ongoing session: Shah

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

SIGNALLING the Centre's intent to introduce the Waqf (Amendment) Bill 2025 next week in Parliament, Union Home Minister Amit Shah said on Friday that the Bill will be taken up during the current session of Parliament.

Though the ongoing budget session will conclude on April 4, Shah asserted while speaking at an event, "We will introduce the Waqf Bill in Parliament within this session."

The introduction of the Bill is expected to cause stormy scenes in the House as the Congress and other Opposition parties have said they will strongly oppose it in Parliament.

Shah's assertion comes amid protests by several Muslim outfits that claim the Bill aims to seize their properties. The Home Minister has acknowledged that everyone has a right to protest and said, "If the Bill is not within the ambit of the Constitution, it can be challenged in courts."

He also tried to allay apprehensions about the proposed legislation, claiming, "The Opposition is misleading Muslims. No rights of Muslims will be curbed."

Shah further said the government had to bring the amendment to the existing law, as the original legislation was enacted while prioritising the politics of appeasement.

Cong had twisted law for political gains: Minister

Attacking the opposition over 'appeasement', Shah said the Waqf (Amendment) Bill was aligned with the Constitution, while the Congress had twisted the law for political advantage.

DHANKHAR WALKS OUT OF MEET AMID GOVT-OPPN RIFT

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

RAJYA SABHA Chairman Jagdeep Dhankhar walked out of a meeting of the Business Advisory Committee (BAC) on Friday, citing a "lack of decorum." Tensions arose due to sharp disagreements between ruling party members and the Opposition regarding the issues to be discussed in the House next week.

According to sources, while the opposition members insisted on discussing "duplicate" voter ID (EPIC) numbers and sending bills for scrutiny by parliamentary committees, the ruling members showed disagreement. Since neither side was ready to give up their respective positions, Dhankhar left the meeting.

A senior opposition leader said that his MPs wanted to fix the time for debates on issues like EPIC cards, the Manipur situation and scrutiny of bills by Parliamentary committees. "Opposition leaders insisted that they are giving notices every day for discussions, but no time was being allotted," he added.

Another opposition leader, meanwhile, said they have conveyed to the Chairman that they are flexible on the rules under which discussion on EPIC can be held, but the discussion should be taken up.

The TMC, which has consistently raised the issue in the House, with several of its members giving notices, has warned of protests if the discussion is not taken up.

Rajya Sabha faces disruptions over Rana Sanga row

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Rajya Sabha on Friday witnessed disruptions amid uproar by members of the ruling BJP, who demanded an "unqualified apology" from Samajwadi Party leader Ramji Lal Suman for his remarks against Rajput king Rana Sanga.

As the House assembled for the day, BJP members raised slogans demanding an apology from Suman, leading to a nearly 30-minute adjournment.

Chairman Jagdeep Dhankhar hailed Rana Sanga as a national hero who fought valiantly, describing the remarks against him as "highly disparaging and objectionable."

Dhankhar then asked Parliamentary Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju to placate the party members. Rijiju said his party completely agreed with the assertions made by the Chairman.

LoP Mallikarjun Kharge stated while his party respected all who fought for the country, the attacks on Suman's residence and property were uncalled for. "None have the right to take law in their hands and resort to vandalism," he asserted. He also warned that "anti-Dalit actions will not be tolerated".

MPs seek govt to check high airfares, say airlines 'pass on costs to passengers'

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

CUTTING across party lines, Lok Sabha members on Friday urged the government to intervene in reducing high airfares. During a discussion on Congress MP Shafi Parambil's private member's resolution on regulating airfares, several MPs highlighted concerns over affordability, airline regulations and service issues.

Speaking during the discussion, BJP MP Rajiv Pratap Rudy pointed out that airlines pass on operational costs to passengers. "If a flight gets diverted, that contingency is not included in anything. Every minute spent in air is a cost to the airline, and this cost is transferred to tickets of other passengers," he said.

Congress MP K C Venugopal pointed out the plight of Malayalis in Gulf countries who spend their hard earned money on airfares. "During festival season, there is an unprecedented hike in airfares, which forces many working in the Gulf countries to cancel long pending visit to home state. It is a serious issue," he said.

"DGCA has the power to monitor the fares. They may have limited power. They are not even using that power to pull up the airlines which violate rules," Venugopal said, highlighting the need for immediate attention.

Abdul Rashid, an independent MP, emphasised the urgent need to regulate airfares, criticising airlines for allegedly profiting during times of crisis. "In case of tragedies, airlines should not exploit passengers," the legislator said.

During festival season, there is an unprecedented hike in airfares, which forces many working in the Gulf countries to cancel long pending visit to home state. It is a serious issue... Maha volte-face over farm loan waiver, says no money

Without money, you cannot do anything; therefore, we are not in a position to waive off the farmer loans at present. Farmers should start paying their loans immediately

Ajit Pawar, Maharashtra DyCM

SUDHIR SURAYWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar clarified on Friday that his government cannot waive farmers' loans because the state's financial condition is not sound. He asked the farmers not to wait for the waiver and start repaying them.

This follows the Maharashtra government's earlier decision not to increase the financial assistance to poor women from ₹1500 to ₹2,000 under the Ladli Bahena scheme.

Pawar, also the finance minister, clarified that farmers should not wait for farm loan waivers. He said, "Without money, you cannot do anything; therefore, we are not in a position to waive off the farmer loans at present. Farmers should start paying their loans immediately."

March 31 is the last date for the farmers to repay the loans. "I never said and claimed after coming to power that we would waive off the farmer loan. It was not part of our party elections manifesto. Therefore, there is no question of deciding to waive the farm loan," the finance minister said.

Regarding the Ladli Bahina scheme, Ajit Pawar said that they are committed to increasing the financial assistance of poor and needy women, but it will not be done immediately. "We are elected for five years, so the increase of financial assistance can be done at any time in five years. Besides, we are trying to improve the state's financial condition by tapping different resources," the deputy chief minister said.

The Opposition slammed the Mahayuti government for going back on its promises. Maharashtra Congress Legislature Party leader Vijay Wadettiwar said that while campaigning for the state assembly elections, MahaYuti and its alliance partners had promised to increase the financial aid and waive the farm loans if voted in power.

"Mahayuti has got a thumping majority because various sections voted overwhelmingly. People voted for them with hopes and expectations, but the MahaYuti government is not keeping its word. It shows they made hollow and fake promises just to get the votes. Now, they are making a u-turn. People will not forget the cheating by the government," Wadettiwar added.

Staff crunch, lack of infra hit Gujarat public health

CAG REPORT EXPOSES STATE'S AILING HEALTH

- Severe Staff Shortage: No HR policy; 23% doctor, 6% nurse, and 23% paramedic vacancies persist
- Specialists Scarce: 51% missing in Sub-District Hospitals, 36% in District Hospitals, 28% in MCHs
- Hospitals Struggling: OPDs, ICUs, blood banks under-equipped; patchy ambulance & pathology services
- Collapsing Infrastructure: 76% shortage in nursing faculty; CHCs & PHCs fall short of national norms
- Essential Services Hit: Missing OTs, mortuary, dietary & registration counters cripple patient care
- Delayed Lab Testing: Up to 55% pending reports in Food & Drugs Laboratory

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

THE Comptroller and Auditor General of India (CAG) report on Gujarat's health services, tabled in the Assembly on Friday, exposes glaring infrastructural gaps and an alarming shortage of doctors, specialists, and nursing faculty.

The "Public Health Infrastructure and Management of Health Services 2024" noted that despite hiring 9,983 healthcare workers between 2016 and 2022, the shortage of doctors stood at 23%, nurses at 6%, and paramedics at 23% as of March 2022. In 22 districts, over a quarter of doctors' posts remained unfilled, while 19 districts faced a similar crisis for paramedics.

Specialist doctors were scarce, with vacancy rates hitting 28% in Maternal and Child Health Centers (MCHs), 36% in District Hospitals (DHs), and a staggering 51% in Sub-District Hospitals (SDHs), the report said. In DHs alone, 18% of doctor positions, 7% of nursing posts, and 46% of paramedic slots remained vacant.

The National Health Mission scheme fared no better, with 18% of its 8,208 sanctioned posts lying vacant.

The report pointed out that crucial patient services buckled under the strain, giving the example of four out of five test-checked MCHs lacking five to twelve registration counters. Four of 19 DHs operated with just a single registration desk. Only 10 of 19 DHs provided all essential OPD services, while inpatient care and emergency services were partially available in 13 out of 19 DHs.

Operation theatres were missing for pediatric cases in three MCHs, and one DH had two fewer OTs than required. Blood Banks were absent in three DHs, while pathology and ambulance services were only partially available in all 19 DHs. Mortuary services were non-existent in four DHs.

Infrastructure projects saw dismal execution. Of 5,332 sanctioned works from 2016-22, only 24% were completed, while 70% were abandoned or never started at all.

The report noticed that the State's health budget for 2021-22 was just 5.42% of total expenditure – well below the National Health Policy 2017's 8% target. Capital spending on health was a mere 14.17% over six years.

Bardhan to take over as next Chief Secretary

Anand Bardhan, a senior IAS officer from the 1992 batch, has been appointed as the new Chief Secretary of Uttarakhand, the CM Pushkar Singh Dhami-led government has announced. He will take over the reins from Radha Raturi, whose extended tenure will come to an end on March 31. Sources indicate that Raturi was not inclined to continue her responsibilities post-retirement. Bardhan is currently the most senior bureaucrat in the hill state. His appointment as the Chief Secretary comes out of his seniority within the ranks. Currently, he holds the office of the Additional Chief Secretary.

No more cells, cameras at Kedarnath Temple

In a bid to maintain the sanctity of the Kedarnath Temple, the authorities concerned have decided to take strict action against those attempting to make videos within a 30-metre radius of the temple. The administration has banned mobile phones and cameras on the temple premises to that end. Vijay Prasad Thapliyal, CEO of the Shri Badrinath-Kedarnath Temple Committee, dwelt on the need for the stringent move, emphasising, "Maintaining the sanctity of the Kedarnath Temple and ensuring accessible darshan for pilgrims is our top priority."

Strict vigil to ensure 75% attendance in varsities

The government has taken a serious view of the dip in students' attendance at state universities, colleges and private institutions. Starting April 1, a minimum of 75% attendance will be mandatory. To ensure compliance, the teacher will download a GPS camera app on their mobile phones to photograph students during lectures. These images must be stored in a computer folder and uploaded to the Samarth portal. Higher Education Secretary Ranjit Kumar Sinha issued directives in this regard to the Director of Higher Education and vice-chancellors of state universities, citing the University Grants Commission's attendance norms.

Another cop dies, Kathua toll rises to 6 as security forces resume operations

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE encounter between militants and security forces in the Sufiyan Jakhole forest in the Juthana area of Jammu and Kashmir's Kathua district continued for a second day. Two militants and four policemen have been killed in the two-day encounter, according to J&K DGP Nalin Prabhat. Four security personnel, including a DySP of police and a para commando, were injured.

A security official said the body of a fourth policeman was found when search operations with the help of drones resumed Friday morning.

The intermittent exchange of gunfire between militants and security forces continued throughout the day. Occasional blasts and explosions rattled the area.

According to security officials, a group of 3-5 militants was trapped in the forest area yesterday. They belong to Jaish-e-Mohammad and are well-trained and armed with M-4 carbines and other assault rifles and grenades, they said.

Prabhat said, "At the spot of the encounter, militants were in a dominating position and the security men were moving from downwards to upwards and that is why they suffered casualties."

He added, "Today, the focus of security forces was to retrieve bodies of the dead policemen. And all bodies have been retrieved." He said a final assault on militants will be launched tomorrow.

A militant outfit, People's Anti-Fascist Front (PAFF), said to be an off-shoot of Jaish, has claimed responsibility for the encounter.

Unconfirmed reports said militants had taken away the weapons of some policemen during the fierce encounter yesterday. However, there has been no official confirmation.

The police, CRPF, Army and BSF personnel are involved in the search operation. Elite para commandos and NSG commandos assist the troops. Besides, drones and helicopters are being used for aerial surveillance to track the militants' movement. Sniffer dogs and military equipment are part of the anti-militancy operation.

Punjab pastor found guilty in sexual abuse case

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

SELF-styled Christian pastor Bajinder Singh (42), also known as the "Yeshu Yeshu prophet", was on Friday convicted in a 2018 rape case by a court in Punjab's Mohali district. The quantum of the sentence will be pronounced on April 1. After he was held guilty, he was sent to the Patiala Central Jail.

A case was registered based on a complaint filed by a woman in Zirakpur against Bajinder, Jatinder, Akbar Ali, Sattar Ali, Sucha Singh and Sandeep Pehelwan for rape, cheating, obscenity, criminal intimidation, etc. The complainant accused Bajinder of developing non-consensual relations with her on the pretext of taking her abroad. The pastor also made an obscene video of her, she alleged.

The lawyer representing the victim, Anil Sagar, said a detailed order on the matter is currently awaited. "While Bajinder has been held guilty, his co-accused have been acquitted," he noted.

Notably, the conviction comes even as the pastor is facing a probe in another sexual harassment case filed on February 28 on the complaint of a 22-year-old woman.

After 28 years, fodder scam surfaces in poll-bound Bihar

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE ghost of Bihar's multi-crore animal husbandry department scam, often dubbed as the "fodder scam," has resurfaced ahead of Assembly polls slated later this year after Deputy Chief Minister and BJP leader Samrat Choudhary said the government intends to initiate recovery of the "siphoned off" money from the accused.

RJD chief Lalu Prasad Yadav is among the key accused in the scam cases involving ₹950 crore. He was Chief Minister of erstwhile undivided Bihar when the irregularities took place. Lalu Prasad was convicted in few cases and sentenced to imprisonment. He is currently on bail on health grounds.

Choudhary, who also holds the finance portfolio, said that the government will initiate the process of confiscating accused's property as per law.

The court had said the government must recover the "plundered" amount from the accused. "If required, the government will seek the court's intervention. The confiscated property and the amount recovered from the accused will go into the state exchequer. The court had said the government might initiate the process to confiscate the accused's property if needed," Choudhary said.

He clarified that the property was attached following court orders and would be confiscated to recover money. "The process will start soon," he said.

The fodder scam surfaced in 1996 when the then-district collector of Chaibasa, Amit Khare — he retired as chief secretary of Jharkhand — got an inkling of the "loot" of public money in the animal husbandry department. Altogether, 66 cases were lodged, and 170 people, including politicians and bureaucrats, were accused. The first FIR for excess money withdrawal from the Chaibasa district (now in Jharkhand) was lodged on March 27, 1996.

Lalu sent to jail in 2013

RJD chief Lalu Prasad Yadav was convicted and sentenced in the fodder scam case in 2013. He is currently on bail. Deputy CM and BJP leader Samrat Choudhary has said the government intends to initiate recovery of the "siphoned off" money from the accused.

Varanasi meat shops to remain closed, ban on sale of cigarettes

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Varanasi Municipal Corporation (VMC) has ordered closure of all meat, fish and poultry shops falling under its limits during Navratri, which begins on Sunday.

A decision to this effect was taken in an executive meeting of the VMC on Thursday. Varanasi Municipal Commissioner Akshat Verma said that an order has already been issued in this regard. Mayor Ashok Kumar Tiwari has directed the officials concerned to ensure strict compliance with the directive.

Besides, the executive committee has also banned the sale of cigarettes near religious places and schools.

The steps taken by the civic body assumes significance as the Chaitra Navratri will begin just a day before Eid, which will be celebrated on March 31. Navratri will conclude with Ram Navami on April 6.

Notably, local leaders in various other UP cities, including a BJP MLA in Jhansi, have also called for ban on meat sale during Navratri.

MLA seeks meat ban

A similar demand for ban on meat sales are being raised in cities across UP. In Jhansi, BJP MLA Ravi Verma is looking to approach the district administration in this regard.

BJP MLAs seek meat shop closure during 'auspicious period'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

WITH Navratri approaching fast, BJP leaders in Madhya Pradesh are advocating for the closure of meat shops during the nine-day festival.

Ruling party MLAs, including two legislators from Jabalpur district and one from Bhopal, have demanded closure of meat shops during the auspicious nine-day period, starting with the Hindu new year Gudi Padwa.

"This is a very sensitive issue, which doesn't demand any debate. The religious sentiments of the majority community need to be respected," state's PWD minister and Jabalpur-West MLA Rakesh Singh said, while supporting the demand for closure of meat shops during Navratri.

Separated from herd, elephant kills 4 in J'khand

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

EVEN though a slew of measures have been taken to minimise the man-animal conflict in Jharkhand, there seems to be no respite.

An elephant, believed to be separated from its herd, trampled four people to death in Jharkhand's Gumla and Simdega districts within 12 hours between Thursday and Friday, officials said.

The lone elephant, said to be furious, has wrought havoc in the Bano region of Simdega. The victims have been identified as Christopher Ekka (60) and Hemvati Devi (35) from Gumla's Palkot and Sibiraya Lugun (45) and Vikas Ohdar (28) of Simdega's Bano.

The elephant was first seen in the Bano area of Simdega, where it killed two people. Lugun had gone to collect mahua flowers from the jungles of Pabuda Panchayat in the Bano police station area when she got trampled by the elephant.

The elephant also attacked Ohdar at his house and killed him. Two other people, Ajay Minj and Imil Ba, were also badly injured in the incident and have been admitted to a hospital for treatment.

Later, the giant mammal claimed two more lives in the area falling under the limits of the Palkot police station in Gumla.

Ekka had left his house to answer a call of nature when he got crushed by the pachyderm. Devi was killed by the elephant when she ventured into the jungles near Tetartoli to collect lac.

The elephant has terrorised the areas. Locals believe the animal has been specifically chasing and killing people. People are avoiding stepping out of home so that they don't encounter the elephant. But they say they don't feel safe at home either.

The local residents have called on the Forest Department to shift the elephant to a safer zone. Locals fear that if the authorities concerned fail to take prompt action, more lives will be lost.

Meanwhile, forest officials have urged the villagers to steer clear of the wild elephant. Firecrackers and torches are being distributed among locals to help them scare elephants away from the areas populated by humans. A team of forest officials is monitoring the area.

Besides, the Forest Department has provided ₹10,000 each to the kin of the victims as immediate relief. The Jharkhand government provides a sum of ₹4 lakh as compensation to the families of those killed in elephant attacks.

Government data shows that out of the total 24 districts in the state, 20 have elephants, leading to an average of 80 human deaths and around 150 injuries every year.

PANIC ON STREETS OF BANGKOK, NAYPYIDAW

Rescue workers walk past the debris of a construction site after a building collapsed in Bangkok | AFP

Lines of injured rush to Myanmar hospital after powerful earthquake

NAYPYIDAW

ROWS of wounded lay outside the emergency department of the 1,000-bed hospital in Myanmar's capital Naypyidaw on Friday, some writhing in pain and others in shock after a powerful earthquake.

A stream of casualties were brought to the hospital -- some in cars, others in pickups, and others carried on stretchers, their bodies bloody and covered in dust. "This is a mass casualty area", a hospital official said, as they ushered journalists away from the treatment area. The hospital itself was hit by the terrifying tremors, which buckled roads and ripped tarmac apart as the ground vibrated violently for around half a minute.

The hospital's emergency department was itself heavily damaged, a car crushed under the heavy concrete of its fallen entrance."Many injured people have been arriving, I haven't seen anything like this before," a doctor at the hospital told AFP.

"We are trying to handle the situation. I'm so exhausted." Some cried in pain, others lay still as relatives sought to comfort them, intravenous drips from their arms.

"Hundreds of injured people are arriving... but the emergency building here also collapsed," security officials at the hospital said. Others sat stunned with their head in their hands, blood caking their faces and limbs. Myanmar's military chief Min Aung Hlaing visited the hospital, surveying the wounded lying on stretchers.

The Myanmar capital is some 250 kilometres (150 miles) south from the epicentre of the 7.7-magnitude shallow tremor, that hit northwest of the city of Sagaing on Friday afternoon, according to the United States Geological Survey.

A 6.4-magnitude aftershock hit the same area minutes later.The road to one of the biggest hospitals in Naypyidaw was jammed with traffic.

BANGKOK

A mushroom cloud of dust and debris swept through the streets of northern Bangkok and on Friday as panicked residents ran for their lives after an under-construction skyscraper came crashing down following a powerful earthquake.

Meanwhile, a shallow 7.7-magnitude tremor hit northwest of the city of Sagaing in central Myanmar in the early afternoon, and was followed minutes later by a 6.4-magnitude aftershock.

Junta chief Min Aung Hlaing said 144 people had been killed, with 732 confirmed injured, but warned the toll was "likely to rise". Eight deaths have been confirmed so far in Thailand, with more expected.

Workers in hard hats and orange hi-vis jackets were engulfed by dust as the concrete stack fell, with dozens who couldn't get away trapped under the rubble.

Rescuers at the collapse site were dwarfed by an enormous mound of rubble and tangled metal struts, just metres from the bustling Chatuchak Market which is hugely popular with tourists. Some of the concrete facade and metal bars at the bottom of the tower survived the collapse, AFP photographs showed.

In Mandalay, the earthquake reportedly brought down multiple buildings, including the Ma Soe Yane monastery, one of the largest in the city, and damaged the former royal palace. A video posted online showed robed monks in the street, shooting their own video of the multistory monastery before it suddenly fell into the ground. It was not immediately clear whether anyone was harmed.

"At first, I thought I was sick — like I was getting dizzy or about to faint. Then I noticed the lanterns were moving," said Hongsinunt, who like many other office workers fled her Bangkok building. Dramatic video footage showed the tremor rocking a high-rise hotel, with water from its rooftop pool whipping over the building's edge.

"I was shopping inside a mall when I noticed some signs moving, so I quickly ran outside," said Attapong Sukyimnoi, a broker. "I knew I had to get to an open space — it was instinct."

Terrifying tremors also rocked the northern city of Chiang Mai, popular with tourists. To the northeast, the earthquake was felt in China's Yunnan and Sichuan provinces and caused damage and injuries in the city of Ruili on the border with Myanmar, according to Chinese media reports. AFP

Govt allocates ₹22,919 cr for electronics parts mfg

Scheme is not production-linked but employment-linked, govt clarifies

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE government has approved the Electronics Component Manufacturing Scheme, with an outlay of ₹22,919 crore, to boost the country's electronics manufacturing sector.

The Minister of Electronics and Information Technology, Ashwini Vaishnaw, on Friday announcing the scheme said that its aim is to increase domestic value addition (DVA), enhance capacity and capabilities, and integrate Indian companies into global value chains (GVCs). The scheme is projected to attract an investment of ₹59,350 crore, generating production worth ₹4,56,500 crore over the next six years. It is also expected to create 91,600 direct jobs, along with numerous indirect employment opportunities.

While discussing the structure and allocation of funds to companies, the ministry clarified that the scheme is not production-linked but employment-linked. This means manufacturers will receive incentives based on the amount of employment generated, with capital support and capex support being secondary and tertiary criteria, respectively. The scheme will run for six years, with a one-year gestation period. "Firstly, there will be employee-linked incentives; we are asking people to define the number of people they will employ. Secondly, wherever capital support is required, there will be capex support. Thirdly, there will be turnover-linked incentives," the minister said.

As per the scheme, the government will support companies in sub-assemblies such as display and camera modules, as well as, bare components like non-surface mount devices (non-SMD) passive components for electronic applications, multi-layer printed circuit board (PCB), Li-ion cells (excluding storage and mobility), enclosures for mobile, IT hardware products and related devices, and selected bare components including high-density interconnect (HDI)/modified semi-additive process (MSAP)/flexible PCB, and SMD passive components.

Vaishnaw said the government is also looking at increasing domestic value addition (DVA) to 38% by developing capacity and capabilities, and integrating Indian companies with global value chains.

"In 10 years, we have reached around 10% of value addition. We must target to double this in the next 5 years. Countries that have been producing for the last three decades have been able to reach a mark of 38% value addition," he added.

Vaishnaw said India's domestic production of electronic goods has risen from ₹1.90 lakh crore in FY15 to ₹9.52 lakh crore in FY24, reflecting a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of over 17%. Similarly, electronics exports have surged from Rs 0.38 lakh crore in FY 15 to ₹2.41 lakh crore in FY24, marking a CAGR of more than 20%.

THE SCHEME AIMS TO INCREASE DOMESTIC VALUE ADDITION, ENHANCE CAPACITY AND CAPABILITIES, AND INTEGRATE INDIAN COMPANIES INTO GLOBAL VALUE CHAINS

Rupee recovers 2.39% vs dollar in Mar

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

AFTER struggling near record-low levels until mid-February, when it had sniffed at 88 to the dollar, the rupee has staged a sharp recovery to trade nearly flat on the year and is on track to log its best monthly gains since November 2018 in March, rallying a little over 2%.

The domestic currency is boosted by seasonal and portfolio dollar inflows, a weakening greenback alongside a drop in bearish positions on the currency. However, the currency ends the outgoing fiscal 2025 with a 2.5% deep cut. On the last trading of the fiscal 2025 on Friday, the rupee closed 32 paise stronger at 85.47 from the previous closing of 85.79.

The rupee, after falling about 5% between the first week of October 2024 and the third week of February this year, has rallied more than 2% in March so far, outperforming all its regional peers and is trading nearly flat on the year. Friday is the last trading day of the current fiscal as next Monday being a holiday.

The rupee has rallied 2.39% this month so far, outperforming its peers, and was last up 0.3% on the last trading of the fiscal year and also the month at 85.47, with traders pointing to dollar sales from foreign and local private banks.

It appears that longs (on dollar/rupee) have been exiting after custodial inflows started to hit," a salesperson at a large private sector bank said, referring to an easing of bearish bets on the local currency.

Both rupee and equities saw an extended period of outflows that kicked off in early October. The direction of foreign portfolio flows appears to have reversed over the last few days.

The rally was also due to the fall in the dollar index, a measure of the value of US dollar relative to the euro, Japanese yen, British pound, Canadian dollar, Swedish krona and Swiss franc, was down 0.07% at 104.26 on Friday. The dollar index lost 3.21% in March, the highest since November 2022.

The rupee rallied sharply, driven by strong foreign institutional inflows, which boosted sentiment and supported rupee buyers, as per Jateen Trivedi, commodity and currency analyst at LKP Securities.

SBI chief Setty appointed as chairman of IBA

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE national bankers lobby, Indian Banks Association (IBA), has elected the State Bank of India chief CS Setty as its new chairman for the next fiscal.

Chief executives of Union Bank of India, Punjab & Sind Bank, and Bank of Bahrain & Kuwait India, A Manimekhalai, Swarup Kumar Saha, and Madhav Nair, respectively, will be Setty' deputies, IBA said in a statement on Friday after a meeting of the managing committee.

MV Rao, chief executive of Central Bank of India, was the chairman of the grouping in the outgoing financial year. Setty will serve as the IBA chairman until the next annual general meeting, leading the grouping that represents the interests of the banking sector. B Ramesh Babu, the chief executive of Karur Vysya Bank, is the honorary secretary of the association.

Corp tax revenue remains flat; income tax mop-up rises 22% during Apr-Feb

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

CORPORATE tax collections in the first 11 month of the financial year remained flat at ₹7.67 lakh crore, showing just 2% growth over the one-year period. Last year, during the same period the corporate tax collection was at ₹7.52 lakh crore. The revised budgeted target for corporate tax collection is ₹9.8 lakh crore for 2024-25.

The slow growth in corporate tax collection has been attributed to muted corporate profitability during the financial year. According to rating agency Crisil, corporate India's revenue growth is expected to be 6% in FY25, compared to the decadal average of 8% growth logged over 2016-2025.

Despite a flat growth in corporate tax collection, gross tax collections showed an 11% increase in the April-February period of FY25, riding on a 22% growth in personal income tax. The Centre's gross tax collection rose to ₹32 lakh crore during the period compared to ₹28.9 lakh crore in the corresponding period a year ago. Personal income tax collection surged to ₹9.9 lakh crore in the first 11 months of FY25 compared to ₹8.1 lakh crore collected during the same period a year-ago.

Collection from Securities Transaction Tax (STTs), which are part of personal income tax, has grown by 65% in the first 11 months to ₹49,227 crore. Central GST collections also showed strong growth with 11% increase in the first 11 months to ₹8.3 lakh crore. However, excise duty collection during the year contracted by 1.5% to ₹2.5 lakh crore during the period. Meanwhile, the fiscal deficit during the April-February period touched ₹13.45 lakh crore, 86% of the revised budget target of ₹15.7 lakh crore for the current financial year.

The capital expenditure of the government remained flat during the period at ₹8.12 lakh crore against the budgeted target of ₹10.2 lakh crore. The government will now have to spend over ₹2 lakh crore in March to achieve the budgeted target, which looks unlikely.

Withdrawals from ATM to get costlier by ₹2

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE RBI has allowed banks to increase charges on ATM cash withdrawals beyond free monthly usage by ₹2 to ₹23 per transaction from May 1.

Customers are eligible for five free transactions (inclusive of financial and non-financial transactions) every month from their own bank's automated cash vending machines. They are also eligible for free transactions (inclusive of financial and non-financial transactions) from other banks' ATMs - three transactions in the metros and five in non-metro cities. "Beyond the free transactions, a customer may be charged a maximum fee of ₹23 per transaction, up from ₹21 per transaction. This shall be effective from May 1, 2025," the RBI said in a circular on Friday. Currently, banks are allowed to charge ₹21 per transaction, after a customer exhausts the free transaction limit. The RBI further said the instructions shall also apply to transactions done at cash recycler machines, other than for cash deposit transactions.

BOJ BOARD AT LOGGERHEADS OVER INFLATION, US TARIFFS

Bank of Japan policymakers were at loggerheads over the raising interest rates. Some policymakers focused on domestic inflationary pressure and others on uncertainty over US tariff policy, a summary of opinions at its meeting showed. The details of the BOJ meeting showed how US President Donald Trump's tariff hikes are complicating the BOJ's plan to raise rates to address broadening price increases. The inflation in Japan has hit above its 2% target for nearly three years. Hawks on the BOJ's board warned of rising price pressures, with one saying the recent surge in food costs could persist and have a "big impact" on inflation, as per the summary of discussions at the meeting. Several other board members pointed to bumper pay hikes offered by big firms in this year's annual wage talks with unions as evidence that conditions for further rate hikes were falling into place.

CHINA

INDUSTRIAL PROFITS SLIP IN JAN-FEB

Industrial profits in China fell in the first two months of the year, as per the official data released on Thursday, as enterprises navigate persistent deflationary pressure and rising global trade tensions. Profits at major industrial firms fell 0.3% in January and February, after three consecutive years of sharp declines, supported by improved profitability in manufacturing and raw material sectors. In December, profits rebounded 11% YoY, snapping four consecutive months of fall. It signals Beijing's stimulus measures since September have been trickling through the economy though the latest data clouds the picture. The Wall Street bank has raised its forecast for China's growth this year to 4.5% from 4.0%. State-backed industrial companies saw their bottom-line grow 2.1% in the first two months and those with foreign investments saw profits rise 4.9%.

PHILIPPINES

TRADE DEFICIT NARROWS TO $3.15 BN IN FEB

The Philippines' trade deficit declined to its lowest level in nearly four years in February as exports sustained their recent growth, although at a slower pace, and imports declined, preliminary official data showed on Friday. The Philippine Statistics Authority said the trade gap narrowed to $3.15 billion in February, the smallest since June 2021. January's deficit was slightly revised to $5.12 billion from the previously reported $5.08 billion. In February, exports increased 3.9% to $6.2 billion, slower than the previous month's 6.3% rise. Imports fell 1.8% from a year earlier to $9.4 billion, compared with the previous month's 11.2% growth. The country's economy expanded an annual 5.2% in the final three months of 2024, the same pace as in the previous quarter but below market expectations. The government will release first-quarter growth figures on May 8

Trade deficit with FTA partners rising: Niti Aayog

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

EVEN as India goes on signing free trade a8greements (FTAs) with countries across the globe, focusing now on developed countries, data shows Indian exports are growing slower than imports with FTA countries. A Niti Aayog report shows that in the second quarter of 2024-25, trade deficit with FAT countries grew by 23% year-on-year to $26.7 billion.

According to the report, exports to FTA countries totalled $37.4 billion during the quarter, reflecting a 4% YoY decline.

Key regions like ASEAN (-10%), Singapore (-19%), and Australia (-19%) saw notable declines, which contributed to the overall drop. However, there was growth in exports to Japan (31%), Bhutan (22%) and Sri Lanka (11%) highlighting opportunities in these markets.

In comparison, imports from FTA countries grew by 5% y-o-y during the quarter, reaching $64.3 billion. UAE led the growth with a significant 48% increase, driven by strong demand for key commodities. Imports from Japan (11.3%), Thailand (26%), and Mauritius (30%) also witnessed strong growth. However, imports from Malaysia (-34%), Australia (-20%), and Sri Lanka (-17%) experienced sharp decline.

The report highlighted the areas of strength and weaknesses in India's textile exports. It says that though India ranks 6th in global textile exports, its basket remains skewed towards natural fibers with a strong presence in cotton and carpet threads. However, global textile exports are moving towards manmade and technical textiles. The report says that knitted and non-knitted apparel and clothing accessories account for approximately 60% of global textile export demand, but India holds only a 6% share.

Current account deficit falls to 1.1% at $11.5 billion in Q3

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE current account deficit (CAD), the difference between exports and import values, has narrowed to 1.1% of GDP or $11.5 billion in the third quarter of current fiscal(FY25) as against 1.8% in Q2, boosted by higher earnings from services exports, as per the RBI data.

In absolute terms, CAD at $11.5 billion in Q3 is higher than the deficit of $10.4 billion in Q3FY24. Goods imports grew 6% in Q3 to $186.7 billion, but a pick in demand helped exports rise to $109 billion and bring down goods trade deficit. The services trade balance helped bring down the deficit further, the RBI said.

Goods trade deficit came down to a 42-month low of $14 billion in February, as both exports and imports fell during the month. Aditi Nayar, chief economist at Icra Ratings, said in absolute terms the deficit widened, albeit to a lower-than-expected $11.5 billion from $10.4 billion in the year-ago quarter, led by a higher merchandise trade deficit. She said she was expecting the deficit to print in a 1.4% of GDP for that quarter.

She expects the current account to witness a surplus of $4-6 billion in Q4FY25, aided by a seasonal uptick in merchandise exports and the resulting moderation in the merchandise trade deficit, as well as healthy services surpluses.

We expect CAD to print at 0.8% of GDP in FY25, before expanding to 1% in FY26, even despite tariff related uncertainty

HC reprimands tax dept over AI-generated order

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE Bombay High Court has admonished the tax department for using AI generated order to reject the contentions of the assessee without giving any reasons.

"The principles of natural justice and fairness are too valuable to be sacrificed at the altar of AI and automation expediency," the court remarked, underscoring that the duty to provide reasons for an adverse order is an established facet of natural justice. The HC advised the revenue department to create a system in which the Centralised Processing Center (CPC) or demonstrates 'thoughtful consideration' and that the essence of orders is not like the "inscrutable face of sphinx."

A taxpayer had filed a petition against a non-speaking order (an order without explanation) issued by the tax department, which had declared return filed as invalid due to the non-filing of a tax audit report. The rejection of the taxpayer's contentions came without explanation, leaving them with little recourse except to challenge the decision in court.

Hearing the matter, a Division Bench of Justice MS Sonak and Justice Jitendra Jain took note of a critical flaw in the system: the AI-generated order exhibited no sign of human thought. Instead of engaging with the taxpayer's arguments, the system had mechanically dismissed them— an approach the court found deeply troubling.

The judges warned the Revenue Department that the implementation of AI should not lead to the erosion of fair decision-making. They emphasized that a well-functioning tax system required more than just efficiency— it needed accountability and transparency.

Sebi eases intraday-limit norms; NSE defers Monday derivatives expiry plan

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Securities and Exchange Board (Sebi) on Friday eased the intra-day limit norms. It has asked exchanges and clearing corporations to monitor intra-day limits from April 1 taking a minimum of four snapshots during the trading day.

The market regulator has also removed the penal provisions for breach of the intra-day limits. On December 30, 2024, the regulator had asked exchanges and clearing corporations to monitor intraday limits, and impose penalty for breaches.

In a circular issued on Friday, the regulator said from April 1, there will not be any penalties or breaching intra-day limits and the market makers need to only monitor the positions limits by taking a minimum of four snapshots during the trading day.

The revised norms will be in force until further directions, it said, adding that the changers are in response to industry representations. A day after the Sebi had issued a consultation paper seeking to fix weekly equity and index derivatives expiries to Tuesdays and Thursdays, the country's largest bourse NSE deferred its plan to change the expiry day of all index and stock derivatives to Mondays from Thursdays until further notice. The shift, scheduled to take effect from April 4, would have seen all index and stock derivative contracts move from Thursdays to Mondays.

No home advantage in Chepauk: Fleming

A disappointed Stephen Fleming said that Chennai Super Kings (CSK) haven't had home advantage in Chepauk in recent years. "We've been really honest with you, we haven't been able to read the wickets here for the last couple of years," the Kiwi said in a terse post-match press conference. "We are trying to come to grips each day with what we get, and we don't know. We're having to work really hard to try and understand what the nature of each pitch is."

In 18th season, 1st win in 17 yrs

RCB make it two out of two, record first victory over CSK at Chennai since 2008

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

RCB players celebrate a wicket against CSK in their IPL match at MA Chidambaram Stadium on Friday | ASHWIN PRASATH

2008

This is the first time Bengaluru have beaten Chennai at Chennai since the inaugural edition in 2008

WHEN Royal Challengers Bengaluru landed in the city a few days ago, they were seeking to put a stop to an unwanted record. The last time they had beaten Chennai Super Kings at Chennai was in the inaugural edition of the Indian Premier League in 2008. Since then, the franchise had gone zero out of eight.

After a confident start at the home of the defending champions in the opener last Saturday, would they be able to go two-in-two? They had all the incentive they needed — beating two of the traditional superpowers to start the season would set them up for the season ahead.

That's exactly what they did as they handed Ruturaj Gaikwad & Co a humbling. Chasing an above-par 197, the hosts batters wilted under MA Chidambaram lights and finished with a score of 146/8, a damaging loss from a Net Run Rate perspective even if it's too early in the season.

Opting to bowl first, Chennai allowed Phil Salt, the designated powerplay hitter, to get off to a rapid start with as many as four boundaries within the first 10 balls. Chennai gave R Ashwin the new ball but the Englishman took him down for 15 runs in a preplanned assault. By the time he was dismissed by Noor Ahmad, the pick of the bowlers who captured three wickets, the visitors had already made 45 in the first five overs.

Even as Virat Kohli was struggling for timing, placement and momentum, all of the other batters found their range. The innings of Rajat Patidar and Tim David made all the difference in the end as they pushed towards 200 on what was a tricky surface. One reason why RCB made the playoffs last year was Patidar's ability to force the play through the middle-phase. He displayed the same nous here as well as he took on Ahmad, Matheesha Pathirana and Ravindra Jadeja across a six-over spell post the powerplay.

Jitesh Sharma and David provided the finishing kick, especially the latter with three big sixes off Sam Curran in the 20th over. For the hosts, all of them travelled the distance. The hosts' bowlers crave control but control is something they never really had all night as the batters kept coming after them. Wickets did fall at regular intervals but the high boundary count ensured that the fielding team were never really afforded a moment of comfort (15x4 and 12x6; 132 off their 196 runs came off boundaries).

BRIEF SCORES

RCB 196/7 in 20 ovs (Salt 32, Kohli 31, Padikkal 27, Patidar 51, Noor 3/36, Pathirana 2/36) bt CSK 146/8 in 20 ovs (Ravindra 41, Jadeja 25, Hazlewood 3/21, Dayal 2/30).

The hosts needed a big opening stand. What they didn't need was losing two wickets — Rahul Tripathi and Gaikwad — to Josh Hazlewood in the second over. Deepak Hooda and Curran came and went in quick succession. Rachin Ravindra, who had played solidly in their win over Mumbai Indians in the opener, waged a lone battle but his innings was going nowhere on a surface not conducive for big-hitting. With the squeeze well and truly on, Yash Dayal, who is making a name for himself with his variations and subtle changes of paces, induced an edge which found the stumps. The crowd, stunned into silence by now, were about to be shocked again as Shivam Dube, last of the recognised batters, was dismissed in a not too dissimilar fashion.

While this is still early doors, the franchise may have to look at their squad composition, especially their batters. Tripathi, Hooda and Curran, two Indian specialist batters and an overseas all-rounder, occupy prime real estate but they can ill-afford more no shows like Friday night.

Kohli of old, RCB of new

GOMESH S @Chennai

Virat Kohli scored a middling 31 off 30 balls against CSK | ASHWIN PRASATH

VIRAT Kohli was livid with himself. In an attempt to go for his third consecutive boundary off Matheesha Pathirana, the Royal Challengers Bengaluru batter had failed to time it and ended up strolling for a single at the MA Chidambaram Stadium on Friday night.

So, he expressed his frustration by slamming his bat on the pads as he reached the non-striker's end. Up on the scoreboard, it read RCB 104/2 in 10.4 overs. In Isolation, it might not read as bad on a black soil surface which was perhaps on the slower side than the one that was used for the Mumbai Indians clash. But one look a little adjacent to the team total, it read: Kohli 27* (26).

On a night where every other RCB batter was going at over 160 strike rate, Kohli was struggling to get to run-a-ball. Three balls before that single against Pathirana, it looked worse. Kohli was 16 off 23. It had been that kind of a night for the RCB opener. But this is not a new phenomenon. The thing with Kohli is that his strengths and weaknesses are well known and so is his batting template. He takes on pacers and negates spinners on a good day. Against Kolkata Knight Riders, Kohli had smashed an unbeaten 59 off 36 balls at 163.88 SR in a match-winning chase. During that knock, he faced 20 balls of spin and scored 24 runs including a four and a six. That was a good day on a better batting track.

Kohli takes on pacers and struggles against spinners on a bad day. Friday was worse. CSK pacers Khaleel Ahmed and Sam Curran were taking the pace of the ball consistently. It contributed to Kohli barely middling a delivery in the powerplay. His tentative nature against spin and the growing frustration meant he was going harder than needed, resulting in a below-par stint.

Off the 15 balls he faced from pacers, Kohli took five singles, six dots, one four, one six and one double and a leg bye — 17 off 15 balls. And this was a positive match-up. He charged at, shuffled, reached with his arms, tried everything, maybe even a tad too much, but with little success. Against spinners, he had made 14 off as many balls but not once did he look convincing. So much that he had to even bring out the sweep shot. It was also the shot that ended up bringing his dismissal against Noor Ahmed on the 15th ball he faced from a spinner. 31 runs from 30 balls on a surface where his team posted 196/7. If not for the pull and the flick off consecutive deliveries against Pathirana — it brought ten runs in two balls — it would have looked so much worse.

Again, this is not a new thing. Kohli has batted like this at least for the better part of the past decade, perhaps with the exception of 2024. From batting at a strike rate of 113.46 against spin in 2023, Kohli took it to 137.08 in 2024 — a season where he was determined to make a mark in the lead up to the T20 World Cup.

EYEING FIRST VICTORY

After losses to kick-start their respective campaigns, both Mumbai Indians and Gujarat Titans seek a shift of momentum when they face each other on Saturday. A look...

Rohit's continuing malaise

Rohit Sharma's nous and captaincy has won him a lot of new admirers for the national team. For all of that, he still can't buy a run for Mumbai Indians. Since the 2022 edition of the IPL, he has made 1017 runs in 45 games at an average of 23. Below-par numbers. Having begin this edition with a nought, pressure is already high.

Gujarat's pacers

This is a franchise that went out and spent over Rs 30cr on three starting XI seamers. All of them had an off night but they can ill-afford a lot of those kind of nights. Can the trio of Kagiso Rabada, Prasidh Krishna and Mohammed Siraj find their range?

Boxer Jaismine Lamboria (L) in action during the national championships | BFI

Nationals' 'Best Boxer' Jaismine's quest to elevate her game

ANMOL GURUNG @Chennai

JAISMINE Lamboria was a cut above the rest during the just-concluded women's national boxing championship in Greater Noida. The 23-year-old wiped the floor during the elite domestic competition to capture the gold medal. For her dominant effort, the Bhiwani girl was adjudged the 'Best Boxer' of the tournament. It's a start full of promise, especially after her tame effort in the 2024 Paris Olympics. Such was her dominance in Noida that the referee was forced to stop the contest at least twice during her gold-winning campaign. Jaismine, who plies her trade in the 54-57kg category, is obviously pleased with her effort and intent on building her game further ahead of more-challenging competitions in the months to come.

Paris Games was bittersweet for the 23-year-old. Having secured her Olympic dream in the eleventh hour, she had suffered an early exit during the marquee competition. With the other Indians also failing to obtain the coveted medal, it was a significant blow for someone like Jaismine then. "Taking part in the Paris Olympics was a massive step in my journey. Now, from every competition, every bout, I get to learn something or the other. I got to learn a great deal from Paris Games and I got to learn a lot from the nationals as well," Jaismine said.

Competitions have been at a premium for the likes of Jaismine with the Boxing Federation of India (BFI) focussed on its elections. However, Jaismine had been doing her homework. She had training at Army Sports Institute in Pune under the watch of well-known coaches like Chhote Lal, who formerly used to guide MC Mary Kom. "I have been working to add strength to my punches and be more aggressive. I'm also looking to improve the tactical side of the game. In regards to that, I'm looking at things like how I should manage a bout, depending on my opponent. I also want to be able to impose my game. Those are aspects that I'm looking to elevate. If I can improve on those aspects, I can certainly go higher," she said.

Coming from a sporting family, boxing is in her blood. She has medalled at competitions like Commonwealth Games (2022) and Asian Championships (2021) and her talent is unquestionable. However, there have been times when she has seemed frozen inside the ring when the stakes were high. The 2023 World Championships in New Delhi and the Asian Games in Hangzhou were two such instances. After that, she was in the background and not considered No 1 (India rankings). "My door seemed shut and I was not part of the equation but I was not perturbed. I just wanted to focus on my game and target the World Championships." Her performance during the Olympics might have been a blur but she has taken notes of values that could take her a long way. "Watching some of the top athletes, I have learnt to stay cool over the years. I just look to give my best and don't focus too much on the outcome."

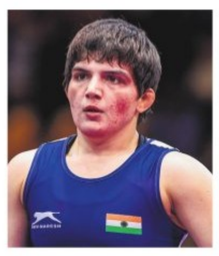
After three bronze, Asian gold for Manisha

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

MANISHA Bhanwala and Mansi Ahlawat train at the Sir Chhotu Ram Stadium in Rohtak, Haryana. Always proving to be quality sparring partners for each other, most of the time, they are up against each other to find a place in the national squad in the 62kg weight category. In March last year, Mansi won a close bout in the selection trials held to pick the national team for the Olympic Games Qualifiers (Asian and World). Unfortunately, Mansi couldn't qualify for the Paris Games. Early this month, Manisha returned the favour by beating Mansi in the trials held to select the team for the 2025 Asian Championships in Amman, Jordan.

"It's a healthy rivalry I will say," Mandeep Singh, who coaches the duo, told this daily. Adding further, the coach said, "It's not not the case only with Manisha and Mansi as in our academy we have at least two good wrestlers in each weight category. Sparring with good partners keeps you ready for any challenge and in that way Mansi and Manisha help each improve."

It did help Manisha at the Asian meet as she outclassed her seeded rivals one after another to clinch a gold medal in the 62kg on Friday. The yellow metal was also India's first in the tournament so far.



The world No 10 Manisha was unseeded in the event but that hardly mattered as she won her qualification bout 11-0 against Tynys Dubek of Kazakhstan. She then registered a comprehensive win by a fall against world No 2 Hanbit Lee of Korea in the quarterfinal.

The semifinal bout against Kalmira Bilimbek Kyzy of Kyrgyzstan, the No 3 seed, was no different as she won the match 5-1 to storm into the final. The final against Ok Ju Kim of North Korea, world No 7, turned out to be the toughest bout Manisha has had but in the end she won the contest 8-7.

"Manisha is always focussed and knows 62kg is a competitive division as it's also an Olympic weight category. She won a bronze each in the 2022, 2023 and 2024 editions of the Asian Championships. The gold after three bronze is really what she was aiming for," said the coach.

Bronze for Antim

Competing in her first international event after a disappointing show at the 2024 Paris Olympics, Antim Panghal, India's first U20 world champion, bagged a bronze medal in the 53kg weight category. The Haryana wrestler, seeded third for the continental tournament, started with a 10-6 win over Jin Zhang of China in the quarterfinal but lost 10-0 against her No 2 seed Japanese rival, Moe Kivooka in the semifinal.

The 20-year-old then made a strong comeback in the bronze medal bout to beat Meng H Hsieh of Chinese Taipei (10-0) by technical superiority. The contest ended in the first 24 seconds of the second period.

Other three Indian women wrestlers — Neha Sharma (57kg), Monika (65kg) and Jyoti Berwal (72kg) — in action on Friday could not reach the medal rounds.

India have so far won seven medals in the tournament. The Greco-Roman wrestlers from the country bagged two bronze while women grapplers won a gold, a silver and three bronze. All eyes will be on the Tokyo Olympian Deepak Punia when the men's freestyle competition begins on Saturday.

Sharath in Rd of 16 at WTT Star Contender event

AGENCIES @Chennai

INDIAN table tennis great Achanta Sharath Kamal rolled back the years with a straight-game win over 10th seed Nicholas Lum of Australia at the WTT Star Contender tournament here on Friday. Sharath, playing in his farewell event, led three more Indians into the Round of 16 after Manav Thakkar and Snehit Suravajjula progressed in men's singles while Krittwika Roy advanced in women's singles.

Playing against an opponent 23 years younger than him, the five-time Olympian Sharath took the first two games by identical 11-8 scorelines. Sharath then opened a five-point lead in the third game before finishing Lum off with a down-the-line backhand smash. The 42-year-old Indian will play his usual men's doubles partner Snehit in the Round of 16 on Saturday, after the youngster beat Yukiya Uda of Japan.

Singh is king: Gurindervir fastest man in the country

ENS @Bengaluru

GURINDERVIR Singh achieved a sizeable feat on Friday.

The sprinter from Punjab is now the fastest man in the country as he broke the national 100 metre record in the one-day opening leg of the Indian Grand Prix (IGP) at Sports Authority of India (SAI) Complex here. He ran to stop the clock at 10.20 seconds in Race D, a timing that is better than the previous national record of 10.23 seconds, which was recorded by Manikanta Hoblidhar in 2023 in Bengaluru.

Gurindervir was naturally stoked after the day's outcome. "The weather was good but the starting block was slippery. I had to get manual support. After crossing the finishing line, I was extremely happy to have clocked a good time," he said.

After this record-breaking run, the sprinter is confident of bringing the time down in the days to come. "I think I have the ability to run 100m in 10.10 in the near future," he added.

His main aim for now is the Asian Athletics Championships, which is scheduled to be held in May. "I should be able to do better at the Federation Cup," he noted.

Hoblidhar, who finished second on the day, was impressive as well. He improved his personal best by clocking 10.22 seconds. Amlan Borgohain was the third-quickest with a timing of 10.43 seconds. Amlan was the topper in the men's 200m race with a timing of 20.83 seconds.

In the women's equivalent (Race C), Telangana's Nithya Gandhe was the fastest with a timing of 11.41 seconds. Karnataka's Sneha SS was second-fastest with a timing of 11.55 seconds while Tamil Nadu's Abinaya Rajarajan was third-fastest with an effort of 11.59 seconds. Later in the day, Nithya did a double by beating Jyothi Yarraji in the 200m race. She clocked 23.36 seconds.

Jyothi, who had captured the 100m hurdles gold medal, clocked 23.55 seconds.

25 wild vultures, including 13 Indian Griffons and eight Himalayan Griffons were tagged with solar GPS devices in the Panna Tiger Reserve

Eurasian Griffon

UNRAVELLING VULTURE BEHAVIOUR VIA A EURASIAN GRIFFON

EURASIAN GRIFFON TO BE SAT-TAGGED, RELEASED IN THE WILD TODAY AHEAD OF HARD RELEASE OF CAPTIVELY BRED VULTURES

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

A ONE-YEAR-OLD Eurasian Griffon vulture — one of the three migratory vulture species visiting Madhya Pradesh during winters — could play a key role in perhaps the first of its kind hard release (releasing in the wild) of captively bred vultures in central India.

The male Eurasian Griffon vulture which appeared tamed and was rescued from Satna forest division of MP's Vindhya region, after it twice strayed into human habitats without fear, has since January 29, been at the dedicated Vulture Conservation and Breeding Centre — a collaborative initiative of the MP Forest Department and the Bombay Natural History Society (BNHS) near the Kerwa Dam in Bhopal.

"We'll possibly release it with a satellite tag on Saturday on an experimental basis for studying its movement, dietary and ecological behaviour. The study of the data generated through the satellite tag would be of critical importance in the planned hard release of four Indian Long Billed and two White-Rumped Vultures some months later," additional principal chief conservator of forests (APCCF-Wildlife) at MP Forest Department L Krishnamurtyy told TNIE on Friday.

Importantly, the four Indian Long Billed and the two White-Rumped Vultures are among 85-plus captively bred Indian resident species vultures at the conservation and breeding centre in Bhopal. They are currently housed in the holding aviary neighbouring the one where the rescued Eurasian Griffon vulture has been accommodated since January 29 with two captive bred Indian Long-Billed vultures.

Experts from the World Wildlife Fund (WWF) will aid the joint team of the state forest department and the BNHS in releasing the Eurasian Griffon vulture into the wild near the Halali Dam at the trijunction of Bhopal, Vidisha and Raisen districts of central Madhya Pradesh.

"The area near the Halali Dam is the most ideal for the release of the first satellite-tagged vulture from our conservation and breeding centre, owing to adequate availability of food, water and nesting sites. The sites are already attracting over 420 vultures of five resident and migratory species, including over 60 from the Eurasian Griffon migratory species family," Van Vihar National Park-Bhopal's Director Avdhesh Meena said.

The vulture conservation and breeding centre established near Bhopal's Kerwa Dam in 2014 with the aim of reviving the vulture population in MP, comes under the supervision of the Van Vihar National Park.

According to Meena, "The detailed data generated from the satellite-tag will help us monitor various issues, including the movement pattern of the Eurasian Griffon vulture, its relationship with the existing vulture species in the same area and also its dietary behaviour. Besides, it will over a period of time also help us in tracking more carcass dumps in addition to the already identified dump near the dam, where the state government aided model Gaushala dumps 10-15 cow carcasses monthly and 60-80 carcasses annually."

"The results we get from this hard release of the Eurasian Griffon could be seen as an ideal recee of the specified area for our future release of the six captive bred vultures. They are likely to be released in the same area in the monsoon months, following permission from the Central Zoo Authority (CZA)," Meena said.

While it will take some time to get and analyse the data generated from the hard release of the Eurasian Griffon vulture, experts at the conservation-breeding centre have already done two studies as spadework for the planned release of the six captive bred vultures later.

One of the studies is an undercover pharmacy survey to assess the prevalence of veterinary non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAID) — among them four drugs whose veterinary use has been banned by the Central government — in the Halali Dam area. The second is the Site Inspection Study of the Halali Dam in the same area for assessing its potential as a vulture release site in MP, which is considered the country's 'Vulture State', owing to the continuous increase in the headcount of the highly efficient natural scavenger.

The undercover pharmacy survey covering 111 pharmacies providing veterinary medicines was coupled with the survey of 14 Gaushalas (eight government run and one privately managed). The survey of the Gaushalas revealed that on an average, 39 cattle mortalities occurred monthly across the cow shelters, with carcasses primarily disposed of in open areas, supporting vulture feeding. Further, Meloxicam (a vulture safe NSAID) was the most commonly used NSAID in the Gaushalas.

In 2021-2022, at least 25 wild vultures, including 13 Indian Griffons, eight Himalayan Griffons, 2 Eurasian Griffons and 2 Red Headed vultures were tagged with solar GPS devices in the Panna Tiger Reserve (PTR) in the Bundelkhand region of MP as part of a collaborative project with the Wildlife Institute of India (WII-Dehradun). The ongoing project focuses on studying the movements and habitat use of the 25 vultures, particularly in the areas potentially impacted by the ambitious Ken-Betwa river link project.

According to Dr K Ramesh, the senior WII scientist associated with the PTR-WII project, "it was aimed at studying the local movement and migration of vultures to support landscape projects. We tagged 25 vultures, which provided interesting information as to how they move locally mostly following forest areas, and use protected areas for roosting and nesting but go foraging away from the protected area, including Gaushalas. This movement pattern suggested that we need to review the current practice of a fixed radius of Vulture Safe Zone; instead it should be site specific. In terms of winter visitors such as Himalayan and Eurasian Griffons, it was surprising to find that the birds were coming far away from Mongolia and other countries in Central Asia. We could conclude that vulture conservation needs a landscape approach. Also, advocating the concept of One Health, linking environment, animal and public health is the way forward."

According to sources associated with the PTR-WII project, the analysis of the GPS data showed that the Himalayan Griffon migrated from as far as 74,000 km, while the resident Indian species like the Indian Griffon and the Red Headed vultures travelled to Madhav Tiger Reserve and the African cheetahs first home in India, the Kuno National Park. Analysis of data also showed that the vultures had a 23 km home range for breeding.

WHY IS MP INDIA'S VULTURE STATE

Though vulture census (headcount) has been done in MP since 2016, the data of the last three censuses, including 2021, 2024 and 2025 clearly establishes MP as the country's Vulture State.

The winter vulture count, which stood at 9,446 in the 2021 census, rose by 14.81% to 10,845 in the 2024 census. The rise, however, was sharpest – by 19.69% in the recently concluded 2025 census carried out on February 29, which put the total headcount across the state at 12,981.

Maximum 1,221 vulture count was reported from the Satna division, where the headcount was 1,200 in 2024.

Importantly, it's the same division from which the one-year old male Eurasian Griffon was rescued in January and is set to be released with satellite tag near Halali Dam in Bhopal on Saturday.

The environs of MP are inhabited by seven of the nine vulture species found in India, including the Red-Headed, Egyptian vulture, White-Rumped vulture and the Indian long-billed vulture are among the resident species. During winter, the state welcomes migratory species, including cinereous vulture, Eurasian Griffon and the Himalayan Griffon.

Panel calls out environment ministry on poor fund utilisation

ISSAC JAMES MANAYATH @ Chennai

THE Union Ministry of Environment this week faced criticism from the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Science and Technology, Environment, Forests, and Climate Change for underutilising its budgetary allocations. In its report tabled in the Lok Sabha on Tuesday, the committee noted that over 30% of the funds remained unspent with the financial year nearing its end.

The committee observed that while the ministry had used over 96% of its allocated funds in the previous two financial years, in 2024-25, only 54.78% of its revised budget had been spent by January 2025. "The actual expenditure of the Ministry up to 31.1.2025 was ₹1712.48 crore, which is merely 54.78% of the Revised Estimate (RE) allocation," it said. The ministry later informed that it utilised 69% of the funds. The panel acknowledged the ministry's projected budgetary requirements but stated that "the utilisation of funds by the ministry in 2024-25 is not encouraging enough for the committee to make any positive recommendations in this regard". It recommended that in 2025-26, "the allocation made at the Budget Estimate (BE) stage be utilised to the maximum, so that the ministry is on firm ground to seek additional funds at the supplementary and RE stages".

As for pollution control, the panel observed there is a grave need to address deteriorating air quality. It noted with alarm that not even 1% of the ₹858 crore allocated for the Control of Pollution scheme has been used. "At a time when the ministry is required to address the grave and critical challenge of deteriorating air quality, it has not been able to decide the continuation of the concerned scheme, as a result of which not even 1% of the funds allocated for the scheme have been utilised so far," the report said.

The committee also expressed concern about climate change and urged the government to collaborate with other nations to mitigate its impact. With the US under President Donald Trump cutting climate funding, the panel noted that India must step up its efforts to address the gap. "Not only have they backed out, but even international organisations, like the WHO, have shown reservations. Under these circumstances, India, being a large country and a major player in climate change mitigation, must take responsibility and work towards achieving its goals," it said.

The committee expressed alarm over recent reports warning of temperatures soaring by 1-3°C above average across various cities in India. "The committee is of the view that, if this happens, it will have devastating consequences for human habitats, wildlife, and the environment," it said. The panel called on the environment ministry to immediately formulate and implement a national Heat Action Plan to mitigate the heatwave conditions likely to occur in the coming months.

The committee also raised concerns about the progress of the ministry's tree plantation campaign. It noted that the mortality rate of plants is very high and urged the ministry to focus not only on planting trees but also on their long-term care. "The ministry should not only undertake plantation activities but should also ensure that the survival rate of these plants remains high so that they continue to contribute to the environment and society."

On the National Coastal Mission, the committee pointed out erratic fund allocations, noting that "the allocation was reduced from ₹196 crore (BE) to ₹4 crore (RE) in 2022-23". In 2024-25, the allocation was again reduced to ₹8 crore, with only 13.8% of the funds utilised by January 2025. These figures demonstrate that the funds under this scheme are being allocated and utilised in an ad hoc and unplanned manner," the committee said, calling for a more strategic approach.

The report also highlighted the rising human-animal conflict, emphasising that "no amount of compensation can replace the loss of a human life". It recommended focusing on "minimising and mitigating human-animal conflict" and urged state governments to take necessary actions to reduce such incidents.

UGADI is very special to me because it falls so close to my birthday which is on March 29, so it's almost like we celebrate my birthday and Ugadi together. When we were kids, we used to fight to eat more bella (jaggery) than bevu (neem leaves) – we did not want to eat the neem leaves at all! What the festival means to me is the nostalgia it carries. We buy clothes whenever we want now with online shopping. But when I was a child, we had thrice a year we could buy new clothes – birthdays, Deepavali, and Ugadi. We were not allowed to try them on before the festival so we would wait eagerly to wear it on the day of the festival. It was fun!

WE always have family over for lunch or dinner together because everyone's busy with their own work throughout the year and this is when we get to get together, reflect on what's happening with everyone and the coming year. Of course, there's a lot of traditional cuisine – sweets made out of fresh jaggery like coconut barfi and payasam which Upi (actor Upendra) loves. He also loves rice so there's a rice item like chitranna, different kinds of veggies, rasam, and 'kootu' made of mixed vegetables. We also decorate the pooja room and do a Lakshmi-Ganesha pooja with a special prasadam offered to the gods.

KM CHAITANYA, DIRECTOR

MOST Indian festivals are unique because of their symbolism. Sankranti is marked by eating 'yellu-bella', signifying the end of winter and the beginning of Harvest season. Ugadi is marked by eating 'bevu-bella', a mixture of neem and jaggery. The idea is that life has both the bitter and the sweet. So we have to learn to take both in our stride. That is an important life lesson to remember even as we celebrate the beginning of a new year. I am in the middle of shooting for my latest film Balaramana Dinagalu. My next schedule begins in April. So I will celebrate Ugadi by preparing for my movie shoot.

VAMSHI KRISHNA, ACTOR-DIRECTOR

UGADI has always been a special time for me — it's about new beginnings, family, and reflections on the past year. This year, amid all the excitement of Firefly and my debut, I want to keep it simple yet meaningful. I'll be celebrating with my family, having a quiet meal together with all the festival food I grew up loving. Growing up, it was about new textbooks for the next school year, preparing for final exams, and getting excited for the summer holidays. Those little things gave the day a sense of warmth and belonging. Now, it's more about introspection and gratitude. Earlier, I was just excited about eating the festival food and getting pocket money from elders. Now, I understand the deeper meaning behind it – the idea of welcoming a new chapter.

SAMYUKTA HORNAD, ACTOR

ALL festivals used to happen at my ajji's house, with the entire family cooking together. For me, that meant cooking ambode, my brother would cook bajji, and my aunts would cook a lot more. Ajji passed away three years ago but, in her memory, we still get together at her house. For me, Ugadi is all about eating together and having huggi, sweet pongal, and other dishes that my ajji used to make but now, my mom (Sudha Belawadi, actor) and aunts make everything she used to.

STAY HEALTHY WHILE SEDENTARY

SEDENTARY lifestyle is the inactive behaviour status of individuals including sitting, watching television, playing digital games, using a computer, social media, and office work that results in more fast food and high-calorie nutrient intake. Studies have determined the effect of a sedentary lifestyle on health and its prevalence alongside chronic diseases such as obesity, type 2 diabetes, heart diseases, mental health conditions, autism, and depression.

A sedentary lifestyle or sedentary behaviour is considered the fourth highest mortality danger factor worldwide by the World Health Organization (WHO). Sedentary behaviour means low energy output due to the lack of physical activity with energy expenditure does not reaching recommended levels.

The balance between adequate nutrient intake and physical activities is important for the prevention of chronic diseases, the strength of muscles, protection against infection, immunity promotion, and good psychological status. Adequate nutrition means a diet that contains the required carbohydrates, proteins, lipids, vitamins, and minerals that are required as an energy source for the building of the body, the function of the organ system, and physical activities.

A sedentary lifestyle has an array of adverse health effects, including elevated all-cause mortality, cardiovascular mortality, cancer risk, risk of metabolic diseases such as diabetes mellitus, hypertension, dyslipidemia, and musculoskeletal diseases such as knee pain and osteoporosis. It is indisputable that the negative health impacts intensify with increase in the total daily sedentary time. For this reason, it is important to reduce sedentary time as much as possible.

The sedentary work environment and mental fatigue can lead to issues like sluggish metabolism, eye strain, and energy crashes. A well-planned nutrition strategy can help sustain focus, maintain energy levels, and support overall health.

1. More balanced and sustainable meals: Lean proteins (eggs, fish, poultry, legumes, tofu) support muscle maintenance and satiety, preventing energy dips. Fibre & carbs like whole grains (quinoa, oats, brown rice) provide steady glucose release for long-lasting concentration. Healthy fats like nuts, seeds, olive oil, and fatty fish (salmon, mackerel) aid cognitive performance and reduce inflammation.

2. Blood sugar stability to prevent rises and crashes: Avoid excessive refined carbs (white bread, pastries) to prevent energy crashes. Incorporate fibre-rich foods (vegetables, lentils, chia seeds) to regulate glucose absorption. Opt for low-glycemic snacks, such as Greek yogurt with nuts, hummus with veggie sticks, or a handful of almonds.

3. Hydration for clarity and digestion: Dehydration can cause fatigue, headaches, and reduced focus. Aim for 2-3 litres of water daily. Include electrolyte-rich beverages (coconut water, lemon water, herbal teas) to maintain hydration balance. Reduce excess caffeine, and stick to moderate coffee or tea intake to prevent jitters and dehydration.

4. Joint and muscle health: Sitting for long hours can cause stiffness and inflammation. Incorporate turmeric, ginger, berries, and dark leafy greens to combat oxidative stress. Magnesium-rich foods (pumpkin seeds, almonds, dark chocolate) help with muscle relaxation and stress management.

5. Smart and handy snacks: Avoid mindless snacking on high-calorie, processed foods. Instead, prepare portion-controlled healthy snacks like roasted chickpeas, mixed nuts, or protein bars. Keep protein-based snacks (boiled eggs, cottage cheese, homemade energy bites) handy for sustained energy.

6. Physical activity: Around 150- 300 minutes of moderate physical activity, including both strength training and cardio, can help to promote muscle growth while also helping to maintain the fat percentage. This is key in preventing any non-communicable diseases like diabetes and hypertension.

LOOK LIKE A WOW!

WITH THE FESTIVE SEASON UPON US, BENGALURU'S FASHIONISTAS SHARE THE LATEST TRENDS THAT WILL MAKE SURE YOU LOOK YOUR BEST FOR EVERY CELEBRATION

MAHIMA NAGARAJU & GAYATHRI M KURUP

FESTIVE sweets melt on the tongue as the fragrance of delicacies drifts from the kitchen. Laughter echoes, while snapshots and family pictures are captured; then of course, the excitement of flaunting your festive outfit.

Subtle and classy

According to Vasundhara Chopra, the head of styling at Stylebuddy, comfort and elegance define fashion this year. "Lightweight and breathable fabrics like cotton blends, linen, georgette, and organza will reign supreme," she says, emphasising the importance of staying cool in the summer heat. Pooja Kavade, a fashion influencer, adds, "Farshi suits and bell bottoms with high neck kurtis are trending right now. Along with this, sleeveless corset blouses that go down to the waist with a fishtail cut lehenga are trendy, easy to wear, and not heavy or bulky when made in lightweight fabrics."

For those who want to go for the classic saree but still be on trend, image consultant Sonia Pardesi suggests the same lightweight materials while advocating for statement blouses. "A lot of pre-tailored sarees styled as gowns are doing the rounds along with women opting for cholis with a drape-style long skirt and a dupatta around the shoulders. A lot of women are also doing the traditional silk saree with a contemporary twist like a high neck blouse, an off-shoulder cut; or even a classic Benarasi saree in a bright colour with a halter neck blouse is a perfect amalgamation of traditional and modern," she says.

EYE-CONIC LOOK

Subtle, 'no-makeup' makeup looks have been the go to summer look for most people. Prthika Kumaran, creative director of Cocomiiiu makeup studio, suggests an easy way to add a pop of colour for a festive version of this look, saying, "Coloured eyeliners mostly in lavender, purple, and metallic blue, are trendy with people prefering it to glitter which would fall all over the face with sweat. This, with a bright lip goes perfectly with traditional looks."

MEN'S FASHION TIPS BY FASHION DESIGNER BASSAM OSMAN

- Pastel and Earthy Tones: While traditional Ugadi colours are vibrant, explore muted tones like pastel pinks, sage greens, mustard yellows, and terracotta that are equally festive.
- Layering with Statement Pieces: Layer a simple kurta with contemporary outerwear, like a long, embroidered jacket or a stylish shawl.

Filmy inspiration

With the popularity of Sanjay Leela Bhansali's Heeramandi, the glamorous looks sported by the actors have made their way into festive fashion with the popularity of shararas and ghararas.

For those looking to embrace this vintage aesthetic, stylist Divya Keyath suggests styling lehengas with kurtas, sharara suits, anarkalis, and kaftan dresses. "Velvet and silk dhoti pants in deep, rich, hues paired with polki, kundan, and meenakari gold jewellery with pearls creates the perfect blend of tradition and royalty," she adds.

Sparkling with modesty

For those prioritising modesty and style at the same time, plain dupattas have been replaced with trendy counterparts – "Sheer overlays, capes, and lightweight jackets are in," says Chopra, noting that, simultaneously, statement dupattas are making a comeback. "Even with simpler outfits, an intricate dupatta can instantly elevate the entire look," concludes Chopra, noting the evolving use of mirror work, now seen in delicate embellishments on kurta yokes, pants' hems, and dupattas.

A 'hand'ful of glimmer

For an effortlessly regal look, Afsheen Shajahan, a city-based stylist, suggests adding traditional hand accessories that are trendy right now. "Accessorise with polki and kundan jewellery to exude timeless elegance. Hath phools are making a major comeback as they blend with both traditional and modern fits when styled correctly. Instead of wearing traditional hand chains on one hand, wear it on both hands to make a graceful and bold statement," she says. "Chand bali earrings, maang tikas, jhoomars, chokers, and nath nose rings adding grandiosity to any look," says Keyath with influencer Navya Akka George adding, "I always go for grand festive outfits. With maang tikkas and big earrings. I love old ethnic styling which, at the end of the day, I will always choose."

Auspicious Festivity

A SPACE MARKETING FEATURE

THE DAWN OF A NEW ERA

Ugadi, derived from the Sanskrit words Yuga (era) and Adi (beginning), marks the advent of a new age in the Hindu lunar calendar. Celebrated with immense devotion by the Kannada and Telugu communities, this festival signifies renewal, prosperity, and spiritual awakening. Rooted in astronomical precision and historical significance, Ugadi is more than just a New Year's celebration—it is a reminder of the cyclical nature of time, the rhythm of the cosmos, and the eternal flow of life.

Astronomical and Historical Significance

Ugadi falls on the first new moon after the Spring Equinox, typically observed in late March or early April. The festival's date is calculated based on lunar movements, a tradition dating back to the 12th-century calculations of the renowned Indian mathematician Bhaskaracharya. His precise astronomical assessments determined that the new year, new month, and new day should commence from the sunrise following this celestial event.

The festival aligns with the start of the Chaitra month in the Hindu lunisolar calendar, which also marks the beginning of the Shalivahana Saka era. This era, which commenced in 78 AD under the reign of the Shatavahana king Shalivahana (Gautamiputra Shatakarni), is followed in Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh, and Maharashtra. According to the Saka calendar, the year 2000 AD corresponds to 1922 of the Salivahana Saka.

Beyond its astronomical relevance, Ugadi is deeply intertwined with Hindu mythology. It is believed that Lord Brahma, the Creator of the Universe, began his divine work on this day, structuring time into days, weeks, months, and years. The festival also heralds the Vasanta Navratri (Chaitra Navratri), a nine-day festival that culminates with Ram Navami, celebrating the birth of Lord Rama.

Regional Variations and Celebrations

While Ugadi is predominantly observed in Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh, it is celebrated under different names across India:

- Maharashtra: Gudi Padwa (or Gudipadawa)
- Sindhi Community: Cheti Chand (Sindhi New Year)
- Northern & Western India: Some Hindu communities observe their new year during Diwali, whereas others, particularly in Punjab and neighboring regions, celebrate it during Vaisakhi (April 13–15), aligning with the solar cycle.
- Southeast Asia: The same period is recognised as the new year by many Buddhist and Hindu communities in countries such as Thailand, Cambodia, and Myanmar.

Spiritual and Cultural Observances

Ugadi is a festival of rejuvenation, both spiritually and physically. It symbolises the transition of seasons, with spring bringing new life to nature, signifying growth, prosperity, and positivity. The festival is marked by several unique rituals and customs:

Panchanga Shravanam (New Year Predictions)

A key highlight of Ugadi celebrations is the Panchanga Shravanam, or the ceremonial reading of the Panchanga (Hindu almanac). This ancient practice, conducted in temples or community gatherings, involves astrologers and priests forecasting the events of the upcoming year, based on planetary positions and celestial influences.

Before reading the forecasts, the priest invokes Lord Brahma, acknowledging his role in creating time itself. The predictions cover various aspects of life, including prosperity, health, and agricultural yield. Scriptures state that merely listening to the Panchanga bestows divine blessings, akin to taking a holy dip in the Ganges River. Devotees traditionally offer new clothes and donations to the priest in gratitude.

Traditional Preparations and Home Decorations

Preparations for Ugadi begin days in advance. Homes are thoroughly cleaned, symbolizing the removal of negativity and the welcoming of prosperity. Families purchase new clothes, and homes are decorated with fresh mango leaves and fragrant jasmine flowers—a tradition rooted in mythology.

According to legend, Lord Kartikeya (Subramanya) and Lord Ganesha, the sons of Shiva and Parvati, adored mangoes. To symbolize a prosperous harvest, Kartikeya urged people to decorate their doorways with fresh mango leaves. This practice continues today as a sign of abundance and good fortune.

The entrances of homes are adorned with colorful rangoli (floral patterns drawn with rice flour and natural colors), symbolising joy and positivity. Fresh cow dung water is often sprinkled on the ground, a ritual believed to purify the surroundings.

Ritualistic Worship and Divine Invocations

On the day of Ugadi, devotees wake up before dawn and take a holy oil bath, massaging their bodies with sesame oil—a practice believed to cleanse the body and purify the soul. After this sacred bath, families gather for prayers, offering gratitude and seeking divine blessings for the year ahead.

The worship of the Sun God plays a central role, as the Sun is considered the harbinger of time and sustainer of life. Devotees offer prayers before consuming the Ugadi Pachadi, a unique and symbolic dish.

The Ugadi Pachadi: A Taste of Life

One of the most significant aspects of Ugadi is the preparation and consumption of Ugadi Pachadi, a special dish made from six ingredients, each representing different emotions and experiences of life:

- Neem flowers – Bitterness (sorrow and difficulties)
- Jaggery – Sweetness (happiness and success)
- Raw mango – Tanginess (unexpected challenges)
- Tamarind – Sourness (struggles and obstacles)
- Green chili/pepper – Spiciness (anger and passion)
- Salt – Salty taste (balance and harmony in life)

This unique blend symbolises the essence of human life—filled with varied emotions and experiences. It serves as a reminder to embrace all aspects of life with equanimity.

Feasting and Community Celebrations

Food is an integral part of Ugadi festivities. Families prepare an elaborate feast that includes Pulihora (tamarind rice), Holige (sweet stuffed flatbread), and Obbattu (puran poli), among other traditional delicacies.

Communities come together to celebrate with cultural performances, music, and folk dances. Temples hold special Satsangs (spiritual discourses), where scholars discuss the significance of the festival, drawing wisdom from ancient scriptures.

The Deeper Meaning of Ugadi

Ugadi is more than just a New Year celebration—it is a time for self-reflection, gratitude, and renewal. It encourages individuals to embrace change, set new goals, and cultivate a positive outlook for the year ahead. The festival reminds us of the eternal cycle of time, urging us to move forward with resilience and hope.

As Lord Brahma's creation unfolds with each passing year, Ugadi stands as a testament to the endless possibilities that lie ahead—a new dawn, a fresh beginning, and a renewed spirit.

THE BULL TEMPLE
A HUB OF UGADI FESTIVITIES

During Ugadi, the Bull Temple transforms into a vibrant hub of devotion and festivities. Devotees gather to seek blessings for happiness, prosperity, and good health in the new year. The temple hosts special pujas and rituals, with priests performing sacred chants to mark the auspicious occasion.

During Ugadi, the Bull Temple in Basavanagudi stands out as a significant center for celebrations. Dedicated to Nandi, the sacred bull and vehicle of Lord Shiva, the temple attracts thousands of devotees seeking blessings for prosperity and spiritual renewal.

Historical Significance

Built in the 16th century by Kempe Gowda, the founder of Bangalore, the Bull Temple holds deep historical and cultural importance. According to legend, a bull once ravaged the groundnut crops in the area, causing distress to local farmers. To pacify the divine bull, Kempe Gowda constructed this temple, and the bull is believed to have turned into stone. This myth is commemorated annually through the Groundnut Fair (Kadalekai Parishe), a vibrant event that continues to attract visitors from across the region.

Architectural Splendour

The Bull Temple is a magnificent example of Dravidian architecture, renowned for its intricate carvings and imposing structure. The temple's most striking feature is the monolithic statue of Nandi, carved from a single granite rock. Standing approximately 15 feet high and 20 feet long, it ranks among the largest Nandi statues in the world. The temple's ornate gopuram (tower) and beautifully sculpted pillars showcase the artistic brilliance of the Vijayanagara period.

Ugadi Celebrations at the Bull Temple

During Ugadi, the Bull Temple transforms into a vibrant hub of devotion and festivities. Devotees gather to seek blessings for happiness, prosperity, and good health in the new year. The temple hosts special pujas and rituals, with priests performing sacred chants to mark the auspicious occasion. Cultural performances, including traditional music and dance, add to the festive ambiance, creating an atmosphere of joy and spiritual upliftment.

Nearby Attractions

Visitors to the Bull Temple can also explore several nearby landmarks including Dodda Ganesha Temple, famous for its massive idol of Lord Ganesha; Bugle Rock Park, a serene retreat featuring ancient rock formations; Basavanagudi Market, a bustling marketplace offering fresh produce, traditional sweets, and festive essentials.

RITUALS FOLLOWED

The festival is wrapped in traditions. The ceremonial day starts early, with the elderly ladies of the family getting up at around 4.30 a.m. while chanting mantras. Several rituals are followed during the day to mark the celebration. The common rituals are:

Reflection in Ghee:

Ugadi isn't just the start of a new year—it's a celebration of fresh beginnings, hope, and prosperity. Homes are adorned with mango leaves, festive meals are prepared, nine yards are draped, and jewels are adorned, while families come together to embrace the promise of a bright future. There is a renewed spirit in the air that urges us to believe that 'This is the time of the year to welcome new possibilities'.

For centuries, this day has been celebrated as the moment the universe came to life—woven together by Lord Brahma, stitch by stitch, like a grand cosmic tapestry. A NOD TO TRADITION, AN INVESTMENT FOR LIFE

According to Dr. C. " For today's woman, it's also about practicality. She seeks pieces that are not just beautiful but wearable, effortlessly blending into her fast-paced lifestyle. The Sootra Collection embraces this philosophy. Designed for women who balance ambition with artistry, tradition with modernity, these pieces offer the best of both worlds—style that speaks and gold that grows in value. This Ugadi, invest in jewellery that mirrors your spirit, that is intentional and stands the test of time," he said, while adding that one can celebrate the journey ahead and the year that is to come in golden hues. "Bring together grandma's tradition of buying a tiny piece of jewellery every Ugadi and your ambitious desire to invest in gilded pieces that don't end up in bank lockers - never to see the light of day. 'Visual effects will be the hallmark of 45'

Arjun Janya plans to reveal the teaser for 45 on Ugadi, showcasing the characterisations while also building buzz around the film's mysterious title. The multilingual film stars Shivarajkumar, Upendra, and Raj B Shetty

A SHARADHAA

THERE is strong buzz around 45, a film directed by music composer-turned-filmmaker Arjun Janya. Backed by Ramesh Reddy under the Suraj Production banner, the movie is set for an August 15 release and will unveil its first teaser on Ugadi. Interestingly, this teaser will introduce the three central characters, played by Shivarajkumar, Upendra, and Raj B Shetty, while shedding light on the film's mysterious title. "What happens over 45 days will leave a lasting impact. That's what the film is set to unfold," Arjun says.

Arjun Janya explained that the title 45 was a deliberate choice. "The number has meaning, and we'll reveal its significance in the teaser," he says. The filmmaker adds, "This isn't just another commercial film. It blends contemporary storytelling with the philosophical essence of Sanatana Dharma, merging mythology with modernity."

The teaser will offer glimpses of the characters and their arcs but will keep certain details hidden. "We want to create intrigue. The teaser sets the stage, but the real essence will unfold over time," Arjun shares.

The plot centres around Shivarajkumar, Upendra, and Raj B Shetty's characters, whose lives intertwine in unexpected ways. There's also an animal character, which Arjun is tight-lipped about, but hints that, more than just a character, it is a symbol with a deeper purpose.

Arjun's casting choices have generated excitement. "Upendra's charisma is unmatched, and we've reimagined his look. It's going to surprise audiences," Arjun says. "Shivarajkumar's character is a contradiction—both a rebel and a gentle soul. It's raw and authentic." About Raj B Shetty, Arjun adds, "He spans the full spectrum of light and dark, simplicity and complexity."

The post-production work is nearing completion, with CGI playing a crucial role. The work, done over a year and a half in Canada and India, will help create the film's immersive atmosphere, as per the makers. The film's visual effects have been created with such care that the makers claim they will surely become a hallmark of this project.

As composer Arjun Janya marks his debut as director, he reveals that making an animated film serving as a blueprint to 45 has influenced his approach and shaped the film in a better way, offering a fresh perspective. Arjun, who has composed four songs for the film, says, "It's been a transformative experience."

While 45 will be released for Indian audiences in five languages, it also aims to reach international markets. "It's a universal story, and we have completed the production and dubbing process in all languages," Arjun said.

The diverse cast includes Kaustuba Mani as the female lead. Interestingly, the film also features Tamil actors Rajendran and Jaffer in pivotal roles.

I am happy to prove my doubters wrong: Malaika Vasupal

The actor discusses the success of her debut, Upadhyaksha, her sophomore project Vidyapati, produced by Dhananjay, how she proved doubters wrong about TV actors making it big in cinema, and more

Malaika Vasupal

CE FEATURES

FOR any actor, their debut film is always special—the culmination of dreams, hard work, and countless auditions. But when that film becomes a hit, it marks the beginning of a journey filled with endless opportunities. For Malaika Vasupal, this defining moment in her career arrived with a bang through her first film, Upadhyaksha. Reflecting on that career-changing experience, Malaika admits, "The songs from Upadhyaksha grooved their way into people's hearts, and the film itself was a success. It became a hit not just in terms of box office numbers but in the way it connected with people. It gave me so much more than I could have hoped for."

With Upadhyaksha now behind her, all eyes are focused on Malaika's next project, Vidyapati, slated for an April 10 release. As the release date approaches, Malaika recalls the pivotal moment when she first received the call from Dhananjay, who produced Vidyapati under the Daali Pictures banner. "At that initial time of my career, Dhananjay seemed like a superstar to me, and only later did I realise that he is a good human too," she reveals, recalling how the conversation unfolded. "I remember how he told me, 'This is a beautiful role,' and after hearing those words, I knew I had to be a part of this film. Now, as we approach the release, I'm just excited to see how the audience will connect with my character."

Her excitement is evident as she shares her experience working on Vidyapati. "The character I play in Vidyapati is a dream role for every heroine," she says, offering a sneak peek into her character. "I play Vidya, a superstar who has given the industry many hits. Despite being a top heroine, she balances the larger-than-life persona while staying grounded. She's portrayed as a woman from an ordinary background with a helping nature—still the girl next door."

It's clear that this role holds a special place in Malaika's heart. "It was fun to shoot for this film because I got to portray a character who is glamorous yet relatable. It's not often that heroines get substantial roles in a film, but I must say that the makers gave me such significant space in the film's trailer itself. It begins with me, and I have a solo song, 'Madanaari,' which has already become a hit."

Malaika had appreciation pouring in for Nagabhushan, her co-star in Vidyapati, describing him as a versatile artist. "Not every actor would take on a role like the one Nagabhushan plays in Vidyapati," she notes. "He's not the kind of actor who is forced into roles. He has such dedication, especially considering how he dyed his hair multiple times for the part. His commitment to the role shows in the film."

Besides, Malaika calls Garuda Ram a "good artist" and commends the passion shared by everyone involved in Vidyapati. "Everyone part of Vidyapati was so passionate about their craft, and it truly shows on screen."

One of the things that stands out the most to Malaika about Vidyapati is the vision of its producer, Dhananjay. "He has come a long way," she says thoughtfully. "I've seen actors who are content with just acting, making money, and living a secure life, but Dhananjay is different. He's always thinking about how he can give back to the industry. His courage to support talented filmmakers and bring fresh actors and exciting stories to the screen speaks volumes about his heart and vision."

Malaika has been among those who made a transition from TV to films, and she is happy about being able to defy her detractors' expectations. Transitioning from TV serials to films was a huge leap, one that came with its own set of challenges for the actor. "There were many people who didn't believe an actor like me could find success in films. But I'm happy that the audience has embraced me, and I've been able to prove them wrong."

Looking ahead, Malaika is excited about her future projects. "After Vidyapati, I have Cult, which is one of the best scripts I've come across. In Cult, audiences will see a completely different shade of me. I'm excited to share the screen with Zaid Khan on that project."

Malaika isn't slowing down anytime soon. Apart from Vidyapati and Cult, she has already signed two more scripts. "I'm collaborating with Krishna Ajai Rao for an untitled film, and another project will be announced soon," she reveals.

Malaika's dedication to her craft is evident in how she carefully selects each project. "It's not just about being busy; it's about making the right choices. I'm focusing on myself, and I believe that's what's helped me succeed. I've slowly proven that actors can make a successful transition from TV to cinema, and I'm ready for even bigger things. At the end of the day, it's the story that wins. And I'm just getting started," she concludes.
